U.S. Bombers Make Raid Near Hanoi

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Waves of U.S. bombers pounded an oil depot and truck park near Hanoi today in the closest raids to the North Vietnamese capital in five months.

Taking advantage of clearing weather, about 20 carrier-based Navy planes attacked the Van Dien vehicle depot five miles south of Hanoi, a U.S. spokesman announced.

Simultaneously, 50 to 70 Air Force Phantom jets and Thunderchiefs raided the Ha Gia oil depot 14½ miles north of Hanoi, the spokesman said.

U.S. headquarters said a damage assessment of the raids had not been compiled from the pilots' reports.

The raids were the closest to Hanoi since June 29, when American planes struck an oil depot three miles from the center of the city as well as an oil depot on the outskirts of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's chief port. They were the first American attacks in the immediate vicinity of North Viet Nam's two most important cities.

An earlier report from a U.S. spokesman placed the raids today at four miles from Hanoi but a later announcement corrected this.

In the ground war in South Viet Nam, U.S. air cavalrymen battled Red troops for nine hours Thursday in the Central Lowlands 280 miles northeast of Saigon and killed 69 of them, U.S. military spokesmen reported. The troops of the 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile) suffered light casualties, the spokesman said.

A unit of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division ambushed a group of North Vietnamese regulars 20 miles northwest of the coastal city of Tuy Hoa today and killed nine of them. U.S. forces reported only small patrol skirmishes elsewhere.

Vietnamese military headquarters reported that government militiamen moved into a hamlet on the outskirts of Saigon and seized two cases of Chinese Communist TNT which local residents said the Viet Cong planned to use against ships at Saigon's new $50-million Newport docking area.

The headquarters said the cases, left by four Viet Cong seen fleeing the area, each contained 1,032 blocks of TNT and had been wired with fuses.

The villagers said the Viet Cong were preparing to float the explosives downstream to the docking area and detonate them around ships tied up there.

Air Force B52 bombers staged one raid today, hitting enemy positions 48 miles southeast of Da Nang, the big Marine and air base in the northern part of the country. The target area was described as an enemy base camp and staging, supply and bivouac area.

Holiday Truces Seen As Hindrance To Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say the Christmas and New Year's truces in the war in Viet Nam will not allow the Communists sufficient time to regroup and resupply their forces.

The officials, addressing editors and broadcasters Thursday at a State Department foreign policy conference, also denied reports that the United States pressured South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky into accepting the cease-fires.

The Viet Cong offered the two-day truces at Christmas and the Western New Year. After accepting this, the United States and its allies then suggested a four-day ceasefire during the lunar New Year in February.

The officials, who could not be quoted by name, also reported the power struggle in Communist China is under way.

Last October, many here believed the struggle would be won by party Chairman Mao Tse-tung and Defense Minister Lin Piao. But the U.S. officials said Thursday no clear victory now is in sight.

These officials said the struggle-produced tension had much to do with the decision of the U.N. General Assembly this week to reject Red China's admission to the United Nations by a larger vote than last year.

Officials expressed belief that

Democrats May Battle Cut In Funds

Liberals In House Voice Objections To Cutback Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's plans for cutbacks in domestic programs threaten to bring him into conflict with liberal House Democrats in the 90th Congress.

Although Republicans have greeted with enthusiasm Johnson's announcement of cuts totaling $5.3 billion in federal programs, Democrats are showing much less willingness to go along with their party's leader.

"I disagree 150 per cent," says Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., who is chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, a liberal group that frequently is at odds with Johnson.

Less vehemently, other Democrats privately express doubts about the course Johnson has elected to follow.

"I just don't think Congress is going to make any cutbacks," said a prominent House member who has long supported the administration.

The programs these members want to see uncut are the education, housing and antipoverty programs the Democrats fought long and hard to bring into being. Johnson has called for deferring some and cutting back others.

"There shouldn't be any cutbacks in these modest programs," said Edwards. "And they are modest programs."

"What we should take a good hard look at," he added, "is military spending. In 1965, expenditures totaled $96 billion and for this year they are talking about $126 billion. Nearly all that increase has gone into the defense budget. "That's where the cuts should come, not in programs that would help all Americans."

The President also has said he hopes to reach a decision around the end of the year on whether to ask for a tax increase to help finance the Viet Nam war and cool off the economy.

If he decides to seek a tax hike, he will have the support of a committee of business executives and educators. The 12-member program committee of the Committee on Economic Development called Thursday for a tax increase and spending cuts next year large enough to produce a $3 billion federal budget surplus.

But the principal spokesman for the nation's mayors appealed to Johnson to reconsider planned cuts in antipoverty spending. Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh suggested space expenditures be trimmed instead.

20 Bodies Found, 8 Still Missing

HARBOR BEACH, Mich. (AP) — With 20 bodies found, the Coast Guard today pressed its search for eight missing but almost certainly dead crewmen of the Daniel J. Morrell as a board of inquiry planned an investigation of some puzzling aspects of the tragedy.

In the worst Great Lakes disaster in eight years, the 603-foot ore carrier split apart and went to the bottom of Lake Huron early Tuesday during a gale that concealed her fate for 34 hours.

There was one survivor, Dennis Hale, 26, a deck watchman from Ashtabula, Ohio. Hale was asleep in his bunk when awakened by the battering that ripped the 12,500-ton Morrell in two.

Hale will be the only eyewitness before the board of inquiry appointed Thursday by Adm. Willard J. Smith, the Coast Guard commandant in Washington.

Rear Adm. Charles Tighe, commander of the Coast Guard 9th District with headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio, recommended the inquiry and was appointed to head the five-man board.

Such an investigation is reserved for major marine disasters. The board is expected to convene in Cleveland Monday.

Among the puzzling aspects of the tragedy were these:

—The Coast Guard reported receiving no distress signal from the Morrell, which sank about two hours after it sent a routine message stating its position in the storm-lashed waters.

—Why did the 60-year-old Morrell go down when its sister ship, the E.Z. Townsend, also 60 years old, rode out the same storm in the same general area?

Nar-freezing temperatures continued over the lake as hope dwindled that any of the missing would be found alive.

Unaccounted for were two of the Morrell's lifeboats.

"If the men had gotten into one of those boats, they could still be alive, floating around out there someplace," said Lt. Kenneth Cutler, Coast Guard rescue coordination officer at Cleveland. "We admit it's only a strand of hope and very improbable."

UN Council Seeks Thant Re-Election

General-Secretary Agrees To Serve For Another Term

BULLETIN

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., (AP) — The re-election of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant for a new five-year term was assured today when the Security Council gave its unanimous approval and sent its recommendation to the General Assembly for ratification later in the day.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Security Council meets today to recommend the re-election of U Thant as secretary-general of the United Nations following his agreement to serve another term.

The 121-nation General Assembly was expected to ratify the council action later today and hear an acceptance statement from Thant.

Thant passed the word among members last January that he was thinking of bowing out at the close of his first term, which expired Nov. 3.

He announced Sept. 1 that he had decided against a second term. But the wording of the announcement left members in doubt. When the General Assembly opened its policy debate three weeks later, a parade of foreign ministers and top delegates appealed to the Burmese diplomat to reconsider.

Thant, 57, made plain that he felt frustrated over failure to launch peace negotiations on Viet Nam and by the financial plight of the United Nations, which has a peacekeeping deficit estimated at between $30 million and $50 million.

Just before his term expired one month ago, Thant agreed to stay on until the end of the as-

Hospitals Reduce Services

350 Youngstown Nurses Walk Out

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—The nursing staffs at two Youngstown hospitals were down to about 50 per cent of normal today and only emergency cases were being accepted after some 350 general duty nurses resigned in a pay dispute.

The nurses, who quit Thursday are members of the Youngstown Nurses Association which has some 400 members.

A spokesman for the Youngstown Hospital Association, which operates North Side and South Side hospitals, said 43 registered nurses, most of them supervisors, were on duty at the two hospitals today, compared to the normal complement of 78 nurses.

A spokesman for the nurses association said these figures were "grossly exaggerated" and said the nurses that were working were "doubling up." This was denied by the hospital association.

The hospitals, which have a combined capacity of 790 beds, reported they had 421 patients today. The spokesman said no emergency cases were being turned away.

North Side Hospital treated four emergency cases, admitted three expectant mothers and delivered a baby last night.

Elective surgery has been curtailed at both hospitals. The spokesman said doctors usually schedule elective surgery following Thanksgiving in time for the patients to be home by Christmas.

The hospitals made preparations earlier this week for the nurses' resignations by reducing the patient load where possible. No transfer of patients was necessary, however, because those who left were discharged by their physicians as not needing further hospital care the spokesman said.

A hospital administrator said supervisors were not affected by the walkout. He said the nurses who remained felt it it would not be ethical for them to leave.

Youngstown's third major hospital, St. Elizabeth, and Trumbull Memorial Hospital in nearby Warren, are reported at capacity.

A spokesman for the Ohio State Nurses Association, bargaining agent for the Youngstown nurses, said about 90 per cent of the nurses had resigned.

William Peer, counsel for the state association, said the nurses are ready to bargain but have received no word from the hospitals.

Joyce Nagle, head of the Youngstown Nurses Association, said the hospital association had offered pay increases of $41 a month. The present monthly salary is $429.

The state association is demanding $480 a month, retroactive to Oct. 1, with an increase to $500 March 1 and to $530 on Dec. 1, 1967.

Cold Weather Will Continue Into Saturday

It's cold — and the weatherman says things are going to continue that way.

The forecast calls for partly cloudy and cold tonight, with snow flurries due to end. The predicted low ranges from 3 to 9.

Saturday it will be mostly sunny — ,but cold.

Edwin Copeland, U.S. weather observer at Millport, reported an official low of 2 above last night, with 2 inches of snow.

It was 12 earlier this morning in downtown East Liverpool.

East Liverpool's street department trucks and crews started work at 6 p.m. Thursday and continued throughout the night, spreading ashes and salt and using snow plows in some areas. Four crews were on the job.

Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said a check with the police department showed not a single traffic mishap overnight, an indication that the streets were not particularly hazardous.

Settlement Of Rhodesian Crisis Sought

Wilson, Smith Set For Last Desperate Effort For Accord

LONDON (AP) — On a British warship steaming through heavy seas in the Strait of Gibraltar, Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Rhodesia's Ian Smith met today for a last desperate attempt to agree on ending the white Rhodesians' rebellion against eventual African rule.

Associates of Wilson reported that he was pessimistic about the outcome.

The two leading antagonists in the 13-month-old rebellion that threatens to tear the commonwealth apart went aboard the cruiser Tiger during the night as she lay at anchor in the rain-lashed Bay of Algeciras west of Gibraltar.

This morning the Tiger moved out into the rain-swept straight between Africa and Europe, reportedly bound either toward the Mediterranean island of Malta, 990 miles to the east, or toward Madeira, in the Atlantic 600 miles from Gibraltar.

Wilson and a team of top advisers flew to Gibraltar Thursday night after promising he would never surrender British principles.

He told the House of Commons that Britain and Rhodesia "are within hailing distance of

Devastated Florence Hit By New Flooding

ROME (AP) — A new flood tide poured over St. Mark's Square in Venice today and rising waters of the muddy Arno frightened residents of flood-devastated Florence. They moved their salvaged goods out of ground-floor shops and homes.

The new threats to the major Italian cities stricken by the great Nov. 4 flood came as rains spattered Italy from the Alps to Sicily. Officials at Venice and Florence said, however, that the rising waters were not an immediate danger and were expected to subside without serious damage.

Lone Surviving Quint Reported Near Death

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Quintuplet Roni Sue Aranson lay near death today and her doctor said the "outlook for life is almost hopeless."

Dr. Lee Bass, who has been attending the lone surviving quintuplet at Magee-Women's Hospital, said she had suffered brain damage and her condition was very grave.

He said it appeared the 6-day-old infant would not live through the day.

Roni Sue was racked by a convulsion Thursday after experiencing breathing trouble—the same problem that claimed the lives of her four sisters.

The quintuplets were born 2½ months prematurely Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Aranson, both 22, of Pittsburgh.

Warns Against Fascism

Kosygin Blasts West Germany

PARIS (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, in France on a state visit, made a biting attack on West Germany today and sounded a warning against the resurrection of "the forces of fascism."

Kosygin turned what was expected to have been a ceremonial visit to the Paris City Hall into a denunciation of what he said were West German ambitions for territory and nuclear arms.

"The present situation in Europe is far from reassuring," the 62-year-old Kremlin leader said.

"Demands for revision of postwar frontiers, coupled with pretentions for nuclear armament, carry the theat of upsetting the equilibrium and the peace of Europe," he said.

"The forces of fascism and war, defeated on the battlefield, are reappearing in broad daylight, unembarrassed and arrogant. The results of the recent elections in West Germany — in Bavaria and Hesse — constitute a new warning which should put even the most unconcerned on their guard."

Kosygin was referring to the recent electoral successes of the rightist National Democratic party, which succeeded in winning a few seats in the Bavarian and Hessian legislatures for the first time.

The Soviet premier said the only lasting bases for European security are "the inviolability of existing frontiers, particulary the Oder-Neisse frontier, and the denial of West German ac-

Pilot Output For Combat Due Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, moving to ease a shortage of combat pilots, has given the Navy and Air Force the go-ahead to sharply boost their pilot training next year.

This was revealed Thursday night by well-qualified sources who also said the secretary will sign an order within the next few days granting the Army additional funds to nearly double its pilot training output.

McNamara's decision to increase pilot training comes amid repeated reports that the armed services are facing severe shortages of young fliers due to the increasing demands of the Viet Nam war. The defense chief, however, has consistently denied that such shortages exist.

But the sources said McNamara now has approved an Air Force request for a ninth train-

Plans Will Be Prepared

Loan Assures Next Steps In City Housing Program

A $43,500 federal loan approved Thursday in Washington assures that the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority can move ahead with the preliminary preparations for erection of 260 low rent housing units in East Liverpool, Merrill D. Hall, secretary of the authority, commented today.

The funds advanced by the Department of Housing and Urban Development are intended to help the authority hire architects for preparation of detailed construction plans and pay many other incidental expenses, including property appraisers' charges and legal fees, Hall said.

The authority is scheduled to erect two high rise buildings here, each containing 130 housing units. Half of the units will be reserved for housing for the elderly. It was assured yesterday that HUD funds will be available for construction financing as well as for the preliminary planning phases.

Hall pointed out the planning loan is based on the number of units in any given project. The loan for the East Liverpool project is based on a formula that allows $200 for each of the first 100 units, $150 for

Five To Face Charges For Fire 'Block'

Five Wellsville men are scheduled to appear Dec. 9 in Columbiana County Southwest Court to answer a charge of obstructing fire-fighting equipment.

Robert W. Lewis, Wellsville fire chief, filed affidavits Thursday noon against Wilbert Ewing Jr., 1111 Mick Rd.; Larry Zacharias, 1121 Mick Rd.; F. E. Jackson, Box 73; Willy Thomkins, 1730 Chester Ave., and William Cataldo, 1702 Nevada St.

Lewis declared the men parked their vehicles on the paved or main traveled portion of Pleasant Valley Rd. without leaving space for emergency equipment to pass.

The traffic law infractions occurred about 1:15 a.m. Tuesday when firemen responded to a motorist's report of a house fire. The blaze destroyed a five-room house owned by Leonard and Verna Merriman of 1025 Pleasant Valley Rd.

The forecast calls for partly cloudy and cold tonight, with snow flurries due to end. The predicted low ranges from 3 to 9.

Saturday it will be mostly sunny — ,but cold.

Edwin Copeland, U.S. weather observer at Millport, reported an official low of 2 above last night, with 2 inches of snow.

It was 12 earlier this morning in downtown East Liverpool.

East Liverpool's street department trucks and crews started work at 6 p.m. Thursday and continued throughout the night, spreading ashes and salt and using snow plows in some areas. Four crews were on the job.

Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said a check with the police department showed not a single traffic mishap overnight, an indication that the streets were not particularly hazardous.

Settlement Of Rhodesian Crisis Sought

Wilson, Smith Set For Last Desperate Effort For Accord

LONDON (AP) — On a British warship steaming through heavy seas in the Strait of Gibraltar, Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Rhodesia's Ian Smith met today for a last desperate attempt to agree on ending the white Rhodesians' rebellion against eventual African rule.

Associates of Wilson reported that he was pessimistic about the outcome.

The two leading antagonists in the 13-month-old rebellion that threatens to tear the commonwealth apart went aboard the cruiser Tiger during the night as she lay at anchor in the rain-lashed Bay of Algeciras west of Gibraltar.

This morning the Tiger moved out into the rain-swept straight between Africa and Europe, reportedly bound either toward the Mediterranean island of Malta, 990 miles to the east, or toward Madeira, in the Atlantic 600 miles from Gibraltar.

Wilson and a team of top advisers flew to Gibraltar Thursday night after promising he would never surrender British principles.

He told the House of Commons that Britain and Rhodesia "are within hailing distance of

Devastated Florence Hit By New Flooding

ROME (AP) — A new flood tide poured over St. Mark's Square in Venice today and rising waters of the muddy Arno frightened residents of flood-devastated Florence. They moved their salvaged goods out of ground-floor shops and homes.

The new threats to the major Italian cities stricken by the great Nov. 4 flood came as rains spattered Italy from the Alps to Sicily. Officials at Venice and Florence said, however, that the rising waters were not an immediate danger and were expected to subside without serious damage.

Warns Against Fascism

Kosygin Blasts West Germany

PARIS (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, in France on a state visit, made a biting attack on West Germany today and sounded a warning against the resurrection of "the forces of fascism."

Kosygin turned what was expected to have been a ceremonial visit to the Paris City Hall into a denunciation of what he said were West German ambitions for territory and nuclear arms.

"The present situation in Europe is far from reassuring," the 62-year-old Kremlin leader said.

"Demands for revision of postwar frontiers, coupled with pretentions for nuclear armament, carry the theat of upsetting the equilibrium and the peace of Europe," he said.

"The forces of fascism and war, defeated on the battlefield, are reappearing in broad daylight, unembarrassed and arrogant. The results of the recent elections in West Germany — in Bavaria and Hesse — constitute a new warning which should put even the most unconcerned on their guard."

Kosygin was referring to the recent electoral successes of the rightist National Democratic party, which succeeded in winning a few seats in the Bavarian and Hessian legislatures for the first time.

The Soviet premier said the only lasting bases for European security are "the inviolability of existing frontiers, particulary the Oder-Neisse frontier, and the denial of West German ac-

Lone Surviving Quint Reported Near Death

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Quintet plet Roni Sue Aranson lay near death today and her doctor said the "outlook for life is almost hopeless."

Dr. Lee Bass, who has been attending the lone surviving quintuplet at Magee-Women's Hospital, said she had suffered brain damage and her condition was very grave.

He said it appeared the 6-day-old infant would not live through the day.

Roni Sue was racked by a convulsion Thursday after experiencing breathing trouble—the same problem that claimed the lives of her four sisters.

The quintuplets were born 2½ months prematurely Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Michael Aranson, both 22, of Pittsburgh.

Plans Will Be Prepared

Loan Assures Next Steps In City Housing Program

A $43,500 federal loan approved Thursday in Washington assures that the Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority can move ahead with the preliminary preparations for erection of 260 low rent housing units in East Liverpool, Merrill D. Hall, secretary of the authority, commented today.

The funds advanced by the Department of Housing and Urban Development are intended to help the authority hire architects for preparation of detailed construction plans and pay many other incidental expenses, including property appraisers' charges and legal fees, Hall said.

The authority is scheduled to erect two high rise buildings here, each containing 130 housing units. Half of the units will be reserved for housing for the elderly. It was assured yesterday that HUD funds will be available for construction financing as well as for the preliminary planning phases.

Hall pointed out the planning loan is based on the number of units in any given project. The loan for the East Liverpool project is based on a formula that allows $200 for each of the first 100 units, $150 for

Pilot Output For Combat Due Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, moving to ease a shortage of combat pilots, has given the Navy and Air Force the go-ahead to sharply boost their pilot training next year.

This was revealed Thursday night by well-qualified sources who also said the secretary will sign an order within the next few days granting the Army additional funds to nearly double its pilot training output.

McNamara's decision to increase pilot training comes amid repeated reports that the armed services are facing severe shortages of young fliers due to the increasing demands of the Viet Nam war. The defense chief, however, has consistently denied that such shortages exist.

But the sources said McNamara now has approved an Air Force request for a ninth train-totaled about 4 inches. The snow built up rapidly, covering ashes that were scattered on some streets early in the evening.

Hardest Wintry Blast Hits Northeast Ohio

By The Associated Press

A snow blanket ranging from one to five inches lay over Ohio Friday, with winter taking its hardest swing at the northeastern area. Low temperatures and winds accompanying widely scattered snow squalls also featured the state's weather.

Most primary and secondary highways in the state were snow covered, or partly so, and slippery, making driving hazardous. But hundreds of state highway snow crews were out working on the roads and no road closings were reported.

The Ohio Turnpike was dry in the west, with a snow passing lane in the east and with a 40 m.p.h. speed limit posted from Exit 11 to the Pennsylvania line.

Coldest spot in the state was marked up at Mansfield--two above zero at 8 a.m. Dayton was listed at 8 degrees in the early morning, Cincinnati 15, Toledo 6, Findlay, 5, Cleveland 4, Akron 6, Youngstown 4, Columbus 10 and Zanesville 11.

The snow ranged from 5 inches at Cleveland, to 6 at Akron, 4 in Dayton, 4 in Mansfield, 5 in Youngstown, 4 in Zanesville and 5 in the Columbus area.

The Weather Bureau said a band of heaviest snowfall other than the east end of Lake Erie appeared to have been a streak about 60 miles wide running through Peoria, Ill., across Indiana and along Interstate 70 across Ohio.

Partly sunny and colder today was the outlook for Central Ohio with lows of zero to five above predicted for tonight, followed Saturday by fair and cold weather. In the northwest area, continued cold with a few snow flurries.

In the east central area scattered snow flurries were predicted. Light snow was ending in the southeast area this morning, and in the southwest it will be partly cloudy and cold with a few snow flurries.

More than three inches of snow were forecast for today to go with four inches reported Thursday night at Cleveland Hopkins Airport.

Six inches or more was reported in eastern suburbs and Kirtland Hills in Lake County had the highest total with 20 inches. Portions of Ashtabula County had eight more inches Thursday.

A total of 13 persons have died shoveling snow since the first storm hit Monday night.

Traffic Cases Bring Fines

William H. Nixon of Wellsville was fined $20 and costs and received a 30-day suspension of his driver's license on a charge of reckless operation during hearings in Eastern County Court at East Palestine Thursday.

Judge Hubert E. Arfman presided.

Three East Liverpool motorists were fined $5 and costs each — Elva K. McCormick of R.D. 3, Box 513, for driving left of center; Richard M. Reese of R.D. 3, for illegal parking on the highway, and John Lyons of 329 Jackman St., for passing at a hillcrest and curve.

Three other Wellsville motorists received fines of $5 and costs — Marlene Z. French, Glenda Mae Bock of R.D. 1, Box 413, and Hobart Shields of R.D. 1, Marshall Rd., all for failure to maintain assured clear distance.

James G. McCowin of 698 W. Clark St., East Palestine, was fined $5 and costs for failure to yield the right of way.

Robert J. Yarian of New Waterford R.D. 1 was assessed $10 and costs on a speeding charge.

Three Lisbon motorists received fines of $5 and costs each—Selma Lue Dorsey of R.D. 4, for speeding; Charles T. Gallagher of R.D. 2, for improper passing, and David E. Derenberger of R.D. 3, for failure to dim his headlights for an approaching vehicle.

Appearance bonds totaling $379 which had been previously posted were forfeited.

Clarification Given On Skidding Accident

A report of an accident on St. Clair Ave. Ext. Tuesday night involving cars operated by Barbara Wolfe, 43, of R. D. 3 and William R. Manley, 18, of M. C. 22 was clarified today.

The woman skidded and hit the rear of the Manley car, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon. An earlier report in The Review had the Manley car striking the rear of the other.

The mishap occurred four-tenths a mile north of the city limits.

New Fiber Products

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China claims it is using limestone, salt and coke to produce a synthetic fiber which is light, crease - resistant and more durable than cotton. Peking's New China News Agency (NCNA) identified the fiber as a polyvinyl chloride product. It said that the fiber has been successfully blended with cotton to produce twills, calicos, mosquito nets and hosieries.

a possible settlement" but cautioned that "there is still a considerable gap to bridge."

Smith arrived after midnight after a flight from Salisbury that took him around the bulge of Africa to avoid passing over black African countries opposed to his white-settler regime.

The rebel prime minister was accompanied by Gov. Sir Humphrey Gibbs and Chief Justice Sir Hugh Beadle, two Rhodesians who have remained loyal to Queen Elizabeth II.

A government spokesman in London said Wilson "had a short welcoming chat" with Smith before the two men retired for the night.

Their talks are likely to last only a few days. Wilson wants to be back in London on Sunday, ready to report to Parliament the next day.

Wilson and Smith have a week at most to reach agreement.

If they fail, Britain has promised its commonwealth partners to ask the U.N. Security Council for compulsory sanctions against Rhodesia. This almost surely would bring a crisis between Britain and South Africa, one of its major economic partners and the Rhodesian regime's chief source of oil and other vital imports.

The heart of the dispute is Britain's insistence that the 225,000 whites led by Smith guarantee political progress for the 4 million Africans, leading to eventual majority rule.

Police Report Issued In St. Clair Township

Chief William Irwin has issued the St. Clair Township Police Department report for November.

Cruisers patrolled 1,979 miles, 390 radio transmissions were recorded and 129 phone calls answered. There were two breakings and enterings investigated and seven papers served.

In addition, 28 complaints were answered, one case of vandalism recorded and 10 traffic warnings were issued.

Other highway activity included assisting 27 drivers in distress, investigating two major and two minor road mishaps and five skidding accidents.

Total value of the shipment is estimated at $3,150,000. This would be the largest single deal of its kind with the United States.

Final Payment Made In 'Master Plan' Job

The Ohio Development Department in Columbus today notified Mayor George E. Willshaw it has paid the final $3,987 installment to the professional planning firm of Carroll V. Hill & Associates of Pittsburgh and Columbus for preparation of an East Liverpool "master plan."

The disbursement represents the last payment on Phase I of the planner's work, the mayor was told in a letter from Christian J. Hogenbick, chief of the local planning bureau of the state agency.

The state and federal governments paid two-thirds of the cost of the planning work, with the city paying the balance. The planner turned over to the city a few months ago the final interim report on the "master plan."

He Thought Caddie Had Lightning Power

STUTTERHEIM, South Africa (AP) — An African here is looking for a golf caddie who hits with the power of lightning.

The African, Bantu Nboyi, 13, was sitting against a tree when lightning struck it. He fell over unconscious.

Stutterheim golf club secretary Trevor Collett applied artificial respiration and rushed Nobyi to hospital. He was released after treatment.

Collett returned to the course and told Nboyi's friends: "He wanted to know which fellow African caddie had hit him on the head with a golf club. He will not believe he was struck by lightning."

Judge Hubert E. Arfman presided.

Three East Liverpool motorists were fined $5 and costs each — Elva K. McCormick of R.D. 3, Box 513, for driving left of center; Richard M. Reese of R.D. 3, for illegal parking on the highway, and John Lyons of 329 Jackman St., for passing at a hillcrest and curve.

Three other Wellsville motorists received fines of $5 and costs — Marlene Z. French, Glenda Mae Bock of R.D. 1, Box 413, and Hobart Shields of R.D. 1, Marshall Rd., all for failure to maintain assured clear distance.

James G. McCowin of 698 W. Clark St., East Palestine, was fined $5 and costs for failure to yield the right of way.

Robert J. Yarian of New Waterford R.D. 1 was assessed $10 and costs on a speeding charge.

Three Lisbon motorists received fines of $5 and costs each—Selma Lue Dorsey of R.D. 4, for speeding; Charles T. Gallagher of R.D. 2, for improper passing, and David E. Derenberger of R.D. 3, for failure to dim his headlights for an approaching vehicle.

Appearance bonds totaling $379 which had been previously posted were forfeited.

Clarification Given On Skidding Accident

A report of an accident on St. Clair Ave. Ext. Tuesday night involving cars operated by Barbara Wolfe, 43, of R. D. 3 and William R. Manley, 18, of M. C. 22 was clarified today.

The woman skidded and hit the rear of the Manley car, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon. An earlier report in The Review had the Manley car striking the rear of the other.

The mishap occurred four-tenths a mile north of the city limits.

New Fiber Products

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China claims it is using limestone, salt and coke to produce a synthetic fiber which is light, crease - resistant and more durable than cotton. Peking's New China News Agency (NCNA) identified the fiber as a polyvinyl chloride product. It said that the fiber has been successfully blended with cotton to produce twills, calicos, mosquito nets and hosieries.

a possible settlement" but cautioned that "there is still a considerable gap to bridge."

Smith arrived after midnight after a flight from Salisbury that took him around the bulge of Africa to avoid passing over black African countries opposed to his white-settler regime.

The rebel prime minister was accompanied by Gov. Sir Humphrey Gibbs and Chief Justice Sir Hugh Beadle, two Rhodesians who have remained loyal to Queen Elizabeth II.

A government spokesman in London said Wilson "had a short welcoming chat" with Smith before the two men retired for the night.

Their talks are likely to last only a few days. Wilson wants to be back in London on Sunday, ready to report to Parliament the next day.

Wilson and Smith have a week at most to reach agreement.

If they fail, Britain has promised its commonwealth partners to ask the U.N. Security Council for compulsory sanctions against Rhodesia. This almost surely would bring a crisis between Britain and South Africa, one of its major economic partners and the Rhodesian regime's chief source of oil and other vital imports.

The heart of the dispute is Britain's insistence that the 225,000 whites led by Smith guarantee political progress for the 4 million Africans, leading to eventual majority rule.

Police Report Issued In St. Clair Township

Chief William Irwin has issued the St. Clair Township Police Department report for November.

Cruisers patrolled 1,979 miles, 390 radio transmissions were recorded and 129 phone calls answered. There were two breakings and enterings investigated and seven papers served.

In addition, 28 complaints were answered, one case of vandalism recorded and 10 traffic warnings were issued.

Other highway activity included assisting 27 drivers in distress, investigating two major and two minor road mishaps and five skidding accidents.

Largest Deal

TOKYO (AP) — Four major Japanese textile companies are reported to have concluded a contract to export some 300,000 dozen shirts and blouses made of polyester and cotton to the United States. Total value of the shipment is estimated at $3,150,000. This would be the largest single deal of its kind with the United States.

Final Payment Made In 'Master Plan' Job

The Ohio Development Department in Columbus today notified Mayor George E. Willshaw it has paid the final $3,987 installment to the professional planning firm of Carroll V. Hill & Associates of Pittsburgh and Columbus for preparation of an East Liverpool "master plan."

The disbursement represents the last payment on Phase I of the planner's work, the mayor was told in a letter from Christian J. Hogenbick, chief of the local planning bureau of the state agency.

The state and federal governments paid two-thirds of the cost of the planning work, with the city paying the balance. The planner turned over to the city a few months ago the final interim report on the "master plan."

He Thought Caddie Had Lightning Power

STUTTERHEIM, South Africa (AP) — An African here is looking for a golf caddie who hits with the power of lightning.

The African, Bantu Nboyi, 13, was sitting against a tree when lightning struck it. He fell over unconscious.

Stutterheim golf club secretary Trevor Collett applied artificial respiration and rushed Nobyi to hospital. He was released after treatment.

Collett returned to the course and told Nboyi's friends: "He wanted to know which fellow African caddie had hit him on the head with a golf club. He will not believe he was struck by lightning."

A Tragedy Of Errors

The Johnson administration will decide shortly on India's application for an additional two million tons of surplus wheat for the balance of this year and three million tons for the first three months of 1967.

India's agony is a tragedy of errors. People in the Bihar State already are dying of starvation. Tens of thousands face death from hunger within 60 days.

Children are being retarded and stunted by malnutrition. Yet the United States holds off a decision—which almost surely will be made in India's favor—on shipping additional wheat.

There are good reasons. The United States has poured into India in the past two decades some $7 billion in grants and loans. We have sent India $3.6 billion in surplus food, most of it wheat and other grain.

There is a growing feeling in this country and in India itself that the successive governments have done little to distribute these surpluses efficiently, let alone build up the country's capacity for self-help.

India is receiving aid from 33 countries other than the United States, several private organizations, and the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization. But it is spending about $1.4 billion a year on defense and has pressed on with a highly expensive program of industrialization while largely ignoring progress toward making itself self-sufficient in food production.

The world's patience is beginning to be exhausted. Moreover, the food surplus reservoir is running low.

India already eats a fourth of the American wheat crop. Moreover, American grain surpluses are trickling just at a time when other countries are offering us hard currency, rather than Indian pleas.

Last year brought the worst drought in Indian memory. Water shortages this year continue to discourage farmers. Yet India has enormous agricultural potential, including enormous relatively untapped reservoirs of underground water. Importation of adequate amounts of fertilizer has been neglected for outlays on industrial products.

The Congress party faces national elections next February. These could be difficult. The party has 360 of 500 parliamentary seats, and its margin of control is probably safe. But the party is rent with dissension.

The immediate future of India's 450 million people looks bleak indeed. Threatened with famine and anarchy, the Indian government is asking Canada for two million tons of wheat over the next calendar year. Half a million tons are being sent from Australia on an emergency basis but on the usual commercial terms. Canberra is being asked for another million tons on a long-term loan.

India, in the face of American obduracy, is turning to the Soviet Union for wheat as well as guns and machinery.

Helping Hand

Heart-warming is the unselfish manner in which many social clubs are playing Santa during the Christmas season.

Where gift exchanges among the members once were the thing, the trend now is to help a needy family instead. And some of the clubs are going into the enjoyable task of giving instead of receiving on a major scale.

The thoughtfulness came to our attention from brief mentions in the many society items which cross the city desk.

Cards and chit-chat have been transformed into one of the pleasing phases of a merry season. Many will be the happier because these groups have taken time out to remember.

Getting Out Of The Ghetto

Most hopeful evidence that someone is doing something sensible about ghetto conditions for Negroes in Los Angeles is a report that many Negro families have moved out of the city.

Some have gone to Perris Valley, 75 miles south, an undeveloped rural area. Whatever may be the disadvantages of this new locale, it has not had time to develop the vices that add to the blight of ghetto existence.

When the do-gooders have run out of breath and the spenders have run out of money, there still is only one solution to the ghetto problem that plagues all overgrown cities. It is to shrink the population congestion that creates the ghetto in the first place.

Until that is done, do-gooders can talk their heads off and free spenders can flirt with bankruptcy without having any lasting effect. They will be like the people who pour hot coffee into a drunk and succeed only in having a wide-awake drunk on their hands instead of a sleepy one.

At one time, the big cities of the Eastern seaboard had Jewish, Irish and Italian ghettos. Then they afflicted themselves with Negro and Puerto Rican ghettos. The fault always was the same.

Unscrupulous landlords and wheeler-dealer politicians wanted to jam certain areas with disadvantaged people to squeeze out maximum rents and votes.

Ghettos are not accidental. They are planned. The only way to eliminate them, or even to improve them, is to get people out of them into more livable surroundings.

Big Black Mark

Forest fire losses in the United States slipped to an all-time low in 1965, but 2,652,122 acres still is a tragically high loss.

The real shame of the burned timber story is reflected in the prime causes: incendiaries, debris burners and smokers.

In addition to economic loss, deliberate malice and carelessness continue to haunt conservationists.

It is inconceivable that anyone could have such little regard for property and life that he would perpetrate a forest fire.

But who can argue with the record?

The black mark of two million burned acres covers a lot of area on our record.

Purely Personal

Thoughts while sawing wood by hand on Sunday afternoon:

One thing wrong in modern living is no direct connection between benefit and effort. Human beings do not know how food, heat and shelter are made possible. They take too much for granted.

Pro baseball is handicapped with sore-arm pitchers, and pro football with sore-knee musclemen. Politics, on the other hand, is handicapped with soreheads.

It makes no sense for state universities to give low-tuition benefits to sons and daughters of wealthy families. Tax-supported higher education should be available only to those who have a legitimate claim to education at public expense.

For years I looked for a perfect saw for cutting firewood in usable lengths and never came close until I found a rough-toothed saw the right size for one-man operation. All other saws were too big.

The Viet Nam war issue baffled pollsters and politicians in the 1966 election. They said they couldn't measure it one way or the other. But they agreed on one thing. There was an issue.

No one who reads about junior colleges in the current issue of Harper's Magazine ever will feel the same again about this new wrinkle in U.S. educational expediency.

Strange thing about Christmas—the way kids look forward to it with happy anticipation and oldsters try to put it out of their minds until the subject cannot be avoided any longer.

I suspect that people who complain about hospitals also complain about restaurants and hotels—to make it appear they are accustomed to something better when the truth is they are accustomed to something a lot worse.

During hunting season, when anything that moves may be killed, pheasants and rabbits have no way of knowing about Sunday, when they could come out of hiding and take a breather from terror.

I never have written a letter that couldn't be contained in the space on a correspondence card, with space to spare, which must be the reason I rarely write letters—and then only short ones.

I admire lawyers who point out that if members of the profession didn't use publicity for their own purposes there would be no need for judges to worry about muzzling the news media to preserve rights of defendants in court proceedings.

Battle Of Foundations

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

Among the many distinguished committees I serve on without pay is the National Kidney Foundation, which supports and encourages research into the incidence, causes, treatment, prevention and cure of all kidney diseases. Other people on the honorary campaign committee are Mrs. Hugo Black, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Mrs. Arthur Goldberg, Sen. Jacob Javits and Mrs. Earl Warren.

Art Buchwald

Now a foundation depends on publicity, and naturally we were all excited some time back when the President was going to have a kidney stone removed. We figured kidneys were going to come into their own and the President might even be willing to serve on the committee, if not as an adviser, at least as a doctor.

But President Johnson's propensity for piggy-back surgery is widely known, and he never seems to be satisfied with one operation when he can have two for the same price. Some people feel his approach to surgery is nothing more than an extension of his economy moves, best exemplified by his desire to turn off all the lights in the White House.

ANYWAY, IN A FEW moments the whole public relations campaign for the Kidney Foundation was geared up for the President's kidney stone operation, and there were even some optimists who thought we might become more famous than the Kinsey Foundation, which of course does research in other work.

But the President, or perhaps his doctors, threw us a curve and decided to remove a gall bladder at the same time. The gall bladder is located way up north and is not even remotely connected with the kidneys in any way. And as luck would have it the President's gall bladder got all the publicity.

While this pleased the National Gall Bladder Foundation, it caused havoc at the National Kidney Foundation headquarters. We tried to save the day by briefing newspapermen on the seriousness of the kidney stone removal and were making some headway when the President himself decided to show reporters and photographers his gall bladder incision in what has now become one of the great newspaper pictures of the Johnson administration.

The National Kidney Foundation demands equal time, but President Johnson ignored us completely, and pleas for him to show his kidney scars fell on deaf ears.

IN THE MOST recent series of operations, the National Kidney Foundation was on the sidelines, and the fight for newspaper space and TV time was between the National Polyp Foundation and the National Gall Bladder Foundation. It was no contest — the Polyp Foundation won hands down and the gall bladder coverage was buried in the bottom of the stories filed from Bethesda Naval Hospital.

Now the gall bladder people know what it's like to share a President's operation with somebody else.

But things are looking up at the National Kidney Foundation. While President Johnson has not given his personal endorsement to our work, his press secretary, Bill Moyers, has agreed to go on the Kidney Foundation honorary committee.

We feel the President has come over to our side, because Moyers has had a medical history of ulcers, but no kidney trouble. Therefore, we all reason, Moyers must have joined at the President's request.

The Budget

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

That was a shocker, that hint of a $140 billion federal budget for next year, a jump of $27 billion over the almost $113 billion budget President Johnson asked for this year.

If you were fiddling with the budget, as Johnson is, you'd need more than just an adding machine. You'd need a good public relations staff too.

Johnson, always aware of what public relations men call a good image, has been a pretty good public relations staff himself, at least on budgets and spending. He's still working at it.

One of his first tasks when Congress returns in January is to submit his budget, that fantastic itemized list of how much he thinks the government must spend in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1967.

DOWN IN TEXAS, where he is working while recovering from his recent operations, his biggest single problem between now and January will be getting the budget ready.

But he never forgets the image he wants to create — that of a thrifty president, running around chopping at dollar signs — as he has demonstrated in the past and is doing again.

For days the news from Texas has been telling how Johnson has been wresling with government spending.

Only Tuesday he told newsmen that federal programs totaling $5.3 billion were being canceled or delayed in the current fiscal year ending June 30, for which his budget had been about $113 billion.

He said a whole bunch of advisers had recommended cuts, and that congressional leaders of both parties are all for cutting, which may have been intended to take some heat off him.

While a president gets massacred by critics if he calls for big spending, he also hears endless cries of pain from that part of the citizenry which is affected by cuts in spending.

Wednesday night out of Texas came a story quoting unnamed "experts" as predicting that maybe next year's budget will soar from this year's $113 billion to an American record budget of $140 billion.

Of course, this wasn't Johnson saying it. This was some "experts." You can imagine how thrifty he will look if, when he comes up with his budget, it turns out to be less than that $140 billion the "experts" talked about.

EXPENSES, of course, are going up: the country and the government keep getting bigger, and there's the Vietnamese war to pay for. But just boosting the budget isn't the only thing Johnson has to think about.

For months he's been juggling the idea that maybe an income tax increase is needed. The aim would be to fight inflation by leaving the people with less money to spend. And the government will need money to finance a budget of $140 billion.

It's just possible that, after hearing $140 billion may be the necessary budget and finding that Johnson wiggled and wangled to get it down to perhaps only $135 billion, taxpayers may grunt and groan a little less about a tax increase.

But it has been a long time since the country took such a big budget jump as is suddenly being talked about now. The last time was back in the days of President Harry S. Truman and the Korean War.

Early in 1950, just six months before that war began, his budget was only $42.5 billion. The next year it shot up to $71.5 billion, the next to $85.5 billion, a boost of $43 million. Then it tapered off.

Even so, Johnson would look like more of an economizer than Truman with a $27 billion boost.

This 'n That

Louis XIV helped to make the game of billiards popular, and even fashionable, when he was advised by his physician to play the game every day after dinner according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Bad Approach

Thoughts On Woodrow Wilson

Woodrow Wilson, 28th president of the United States, died more than 42 years ago.

Now comes a book about him by the late Sigmund Freud, Austrian psychiatrist, and William C. Bullitt, former U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union and France.

It endeavors to tie together psychoanalysis and the making of national and international policy by a chief executive.

Look magazine prints a condensation of the book, also a rebuttal by Allen W. Dulles, former director of Central Intelligence Agency, who calls the study "an ill-founded attack on the character of one of our great idealists."

Mr. Dulles, who studied under Mr. Wilson at Princeton and knew him personally for many years, declare there is "a deep note of bitterness in this book."

Chief point made by the authors is that Wilson had what is known as a "father complex," and from this all sorts of psychoanalytical conclusions are drawn. But Freud, who never had any personal contact with Wilson, admits in the book that "a more intimate knowledge of a man may lead to a more exact estimate of his achievements."

It might also have been conceded that nobody can properly make either a psychiatric study or any other analysis of a president of the United States unless there is an intimate knowledge of his day-by-day reactions to public events and a careful examination of all his acts and utterances in the light of what was known at the time they were made.

THIS WRITER, as a student at Princeton, not only attended Wilson's lectures on constitutional government but had frequent conferences with him, particularly when, in the fourth year of the college course, it became a regular duty, on behalf of the undergraduate Press Club, to deal with Mr. Wilson as president of the university on subjects of news interest.

When Gov. Wilson was nominated for the presidency in 1912, The Associated Press assigned this writer to cover the campaign. For more than eight years thereafter, it was a daily responsibility to report national and international news from the White House.

During that time, the writer became an intimate friend of Joseph P. Tumulty, the President's private secretary. Mr. Tumulty's admiration for the President never ceased, even though there were occasional differences of opinion.

This correspondent also differed with President Wilson on public questions and wrote articles on certain issues pointing out that another course might have been preferable.

The authors of the new book claim Woodrow Wilson was a weak character because he "never had a fist fight in his life."

The record shows there is no question about the courage of President Wilson.

It required fortitude to enter World War I.

It took strength of character for him to oppose the device which the Senate sought to impose by separating the League of Nations covenant from the Versalles Peace Treaty.

Here was a man who said in a public speech: "I would a great deal rather lose in a cause that I know some day will triumph than triumph in a cause that I know some day will lose."

IF WOODROW WILSON had any of the characteristics of a "father complex," they were hardly observable to those who had contact with him personally and in covering his public career.

After Mr. Wilson suffered a stroke in September 1919, he was, of course, virtually incapacitated.

Decisions were made for him by members of the cabinet. But prior to that time he had the foresight to champion the concept of the League of Nations as the only solution to world peace. The United Nations, its successor, is still struggling to carry out the idea.

Woodrow Wilson was one of the greatest of American presidents.

He is to be revered for his forthright and consistent advocacy of international and national reforms that continue in the laws and policies of today.

He had his likes and dislikes, his prejudices and his convictions. But to find in the multifarious of things that a president does in eight years a single psychiatric factor which allegedly influenced the making of all his policies, is to enter a field of futile speculation, especially in the absence of convincing evidence.

Ghettos are not accidental. They are planned. The only way to eliminate them, or even to improve them, is to get people out of them into more livable surroundings.

Big Black Mark

Forest fire losses in the United States slipped to an all-time low in 1965, but 2,652,122 acres still is a tragically high loss.

The real shame of the burned timber story is reflected in the prime causes: incendiaries, debris burners and smokers.

In addition to economic loss, deliberate malice and carelessness continue to haunt conservationists.

It is inconceivable that anyone could have such little regard for property and life that he would perpetrate a forest fire.

But who can argue with the record?

The black mark of two million burned acres covers a lot of area on our record.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

Thoughts while sawing wood by hand on Sunday afternoon:

One thing wrong in modern living is no direct connection between benefit and effort. Human beings do not know how food, heat and shelter are made possible. They take too much for granted.

Pro baseball is handicapped with sore-arm pitchers, and pro football with sore-knee musclemen. Politics, on the other hand, is handicapped with soreheads.

It makes no sense for state universities to give low-tuition benefits to sons and daughters of wealthy families. Tax-supported higher education should be available only to those who have a legitimate claim to education at public expense.

For years I looked for a perfect saw for cutting firewood in usable lengths and never came close until I found a rough-toothed saw the right size for one-man operation. All other saws were too big.

The Viet Nam war issue baffled pollsters and politicians in the 1966 election. They said they couldn't measure it one way or the other. But they agreed on one thing. There was an issue.

No one who reads about junior colleges in the current issue of Harper's Magazine ever will feel the same again about this new wrinkle in U.S. educational expediency.

Strange thing about Christmas—the way kids look forward to it with happy anticipation and oldsters try to put it out of their minds until the subject cannot be avoided any longer.

I suspect that people who complain about hospitals also complain about restaurants and hotels—to make it appear they are accustomed to something better when the truth is they are accustomed to something a lot worse.

During hunting season, when anything that moves may be killed, pheasants and rabbits have no way of knowing about Sunday, when they could come out of hiding and take a breather from terror.

I never have written a letter that couldn't be contained in the space on a correspondence card, with space to spare, which must be the reason I rarely write letters—and then only short ones.

I admire lawyers who point out that if members of the profession didn't use publicity for their own purposes there would be no need for judges to worry about muzzling the news media to preserve rights of defendants in court proceedings.

Battle Of Foundations

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

Among the many distinguished committees I serve on without pay is the National Kidney Foundation, which supports and encourages research into the incidence, causes, treatment, prevention and cure of all kidney diseases. Other people on the honorary campaign committee are Mrs. Hugo Black, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Mrs. Arthur Goldberg, Sen. Jacob Javits and Mrs. Earl Warren.

Art Buchwald

Now a foundation depends on publicity, and naturally we were all excited some time back when the President was going to have a kidney stone removed. We figured kidneys were going to come into their own and the President might even be willing to serve on the committee, if not as an adviser, at least as a doctor.

But President Johnson's propensity for piggy-back surgery is widely known, and he never seems to be satisfied with one operation when he can have two for the same price. Some people feel his approach to surgery is nothing more than an extension of his economy moves, best exemplified by his desire to turn off all the lights in the White House.

ANYWAY, IN A FEW moments the whole public relations campaign for the Kidney Foundation was geared up for the President's kidney stone operation, and there were even some optimists who thought we might become more famous than the Kinsey Foundation, which of course does research in other work.

But the President, or perhaps his doctors, threw us a curve and decided to remove a gall bladder at the same time. The gall bladder is located way up north and is not even remotely connected with the kidneys in any way. And as luck would have it the President's gall bladder got all the publicity.

While this pleased the National Gall Bladder Foundation, it caused havoc at the National Kidney Foundation headquarters. We tried to save the day by briefing newspapermen on the seriousness of the kidney stone removal and were making some headway when the President himself decided to show reporters and photographers his gall bladder incision in what has now become one of the great newspaper pictures of the Johnson administration.

The National Kidney Foundation demands equal time, but President Johnson ignored us completely, and pleas for him to show his kidney scars fell on deaf ears.

IN THE MOST recent series of operations, the National Kidney Foundation was on the sidelines, and the fight for newspaper space and TV time was between the National Polyp Foundation and the National Gall Bladder Foundation. It was no contest — the Polyp Foundation won hands down and the gall bladder coverage was buried in the bottom of the stories filed from Bethesda Naval Hospital.

Now the gall bladder people know what it's like to share a President's operation with somebody else.

But things are looking up at the National Kidney Foundation. While President Johnson has not given his personal endorsement to our work, his press secretary, Bill Moyers, has agreed to go on the Kidney Foundation honorary committee.

We feel the President has come over to our side, because Moyers has had a medical history of ulcers, but no kidney trouble. Therefore, we all reason, Moyers must have joined at the President's request.

The Budget

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

That was a shocker, that hint of a $140 billion federal budget for next year, a jump of $27 billion over the almost $113 billion budget President Johnson asked for this year.

If you were fiddling with the budget, as Johnson is, you'd need more than just an adding machine. You'd need a good public relations staff too.

Johnson, always aware of what public relations men call a good image, has been a pretty good public relations staff himself, at least on budgets and spending. He's still working at it.

One of his first tasks when Congress returns in January is to submit his budget, that fantastic itemized list of how much he thinks the government must spend in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1967.

DOWN IN TEXAS, where he is working while recovering from his recent operations, his biggest single problem between now and January will be getting the budget ready.

But he never forgets the image he wants to create — that of a thrifty president, running around chopping at dollar signs — as he has demonstrated in the past and is doing again.

For days the news from Texas has been telling how Johnson has been wresling with government spending.

Only Tuesday he told newsmen that federal programs totaling $5.3 billion were being canceled or delayed in the current fiscal year ending June 30, for which his budget had been about $113 billion.

He said a whole bunch of advisers had recommended cuts, and that congressional leaders of both parties are all for cutting, which may have been intended to take some heat off him.

While a president gets massacred by critics if he calls for big spending, he also hears endless cries of pain from that part of the citizenry which is affected by cuts in spending.

Wednesday night out of Texas came a story quoting unnamed "experts" as predicting that maybe next year's budget will soar from this year's $113 billion to an American record budget of $140 billion.

Of course, this wasn't Johnson saying it. This was some "experts." You can imagine how thrifty he will look if, when he comes up with his budget, it turns out to be less than that $140 billion the "experts" talked about.

EXPENSES, of course, are going up: the country and the government keep getting bigger, and there's the Vietnamese war to pay for. But just boosting the budget isn't the only thing Johnson has to think about.

For months he's been juggling the idea that maybe an income tax increase is needed. The aim would be to fight inflation by leaving the people with less money to spend. And the government will need money to finance a budget of $140 billion.

It's just possible that, after hearing $140 billion may be the necessary budget and finding that Johnson wiggled and wangled to get it down to perhaps only $135 billion, taxpayers may grunt and groan a little less about a tax increase.

But it has been a long time since the country took such a big budget jump as is suddenly being talked about now. The last time was back in the days of President Harry S. Truman and the Korean War.

Early in 1950, just six months before that war began, his budget was only $42.5 billion. The next year it shot up to $71.5 billion, the next to $85.5 billion, a boost of $43 million. Then it tapered off.

Even so, Johnson would look like more of an economizer than Truman with a $27 billion boost.

Bad Approach

Thoughts On Woodrow Wilson

Woodrow Wilson, 28th president of the United States, died more than 42 years ago.

Now comes a book about him by the late Sigmund Freud, Austrian psychiatrist, and William C. Bullitt, former U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union and France.

It endeavors to tie together psychoanalysis and the making of national and international policy by a chief executive.

Look magazine prints a condensation of the book, also a rebuttal by Allen W. Dulles, former director of Central Intelligence Agency, who calls the study "an ill-founded attack on the character of one of our great idealists."

Mr. Dulles, who studied under Mr. Wilson at Princeton and knew him personally for many years, declare there is "a deep note of bitterness in this book."

Chief point made by the authors is that Wilson had what is known as a "father complex," and from this all sorts of psychoanalytical conclusions are drawn. But Freud, who never had any personal contact with Wilson, admits in the book that "a more intimate knowledge of a man may lead to a more exact estimate of his achievements."

It might also have been conceded that nobody can properly make either a psychiatric study or any other analysis of a president of the United States unless there is an intimate knowledge of his day-by-day reactions to public events and a careful examination of all his acts and utterances in the light of what was known at the time they were made.

THIS WRITER, as a student at Princeton, not only attended Wilson's lectures on constitutional government but had frequent conferences with him, particularly when, in the fourth year of the college course, it became a regular duty, on behalf of the undergraduate Press Club, to deal with Mr. Wilson as president of the university on subjects of news interest.

When Gov. Wilson was nominated for the presidency in 1912, The Associated Press assigned this writer to cover the campaign. For more than eight years thereafter, it was a daily responsibility to report national and international news from the White House.

During that time, the writer became an intimate friend of Joseph P. Tumulty, the President's private secretary. Mr. Tumulty's admiration for the President never ceased, even though there were occasional differences of opinion.

This correspondent also differed with President Wilson on public questions and wrote articles on certain issues pointing out that another course might have been preferable.

The authors of the new book claim Woodrow Wilson was a weak character because he "never had a fist fight in his life."

The record shows there is no question about the courage of President Wilson.

It required fortitude to enter World War I.

It took strength of character for him to oppose the device which the Senate sought to impose by separating the League of Nations covenant from the Versalles Peace Treaty.

Here was a man who said in a public speech: "I would a great deal rather lose in a cause that I know some day will triumph than triumph in a cause that I know some day will lose."

IF WOODROW WILSON had any of the characteristics of a "father complex," they were hardly observable to those who had contact with him personally and in covering his public career.

After Mr. Wilson suffered a stroke in September 1919, he was, of course, virtually incapacitated.

Decisions were made for him by members of the cabinet. But prior to that time he had the foresight to champion the concept of the League of Nations as the only solution to world peace. The United Nations, its successor, is still struggling to carry out the idea.

Woodrow Wilson was one of the greatest of American presidents.

He is to be revered for his forthright and consistent advocacy of international and national reforms that continue in the laws and policies of today.

He had his likes and dislikes, his prejudices and his convictions. But to find in the multifarious of things that a president does in eight years a single psychiatric factor which allegedly influenced the making of all his policies, is to enter a field of futile speculation, especially in the absence of convincing evidence.

ing base — to be named later — and also ordered it to accelerate pilot training programs.

The goal, said the sources, is to boost pilot output at the eight bases now in operation from this year's expected total of 2,760 to 2,920. McNamara also has ordered Air Force planners to get the new base in full operation by next July 1.

It was learned the Navy will not get new bases, but instead has been ordered to increase its facilities at training locations in Pensacola, Fla., Merdian, Miss., and Corpus Christi, Tex.

Under the McNamara plan, these bases are expected to turn out about 1,800 pilots this year; 2,200 pilots next year and 2,500 in fiscal 1969.

Although it has been estimated by qualified sources that about $500,000 is needed to turn out one carrier jet pilot, sources said no money estimates for the new training programs were immediately available.

Still to be determined, they said, are the costs for the additional training planes and facilities needed to carry out the increased training.

sembly session, expected Dec. 20.

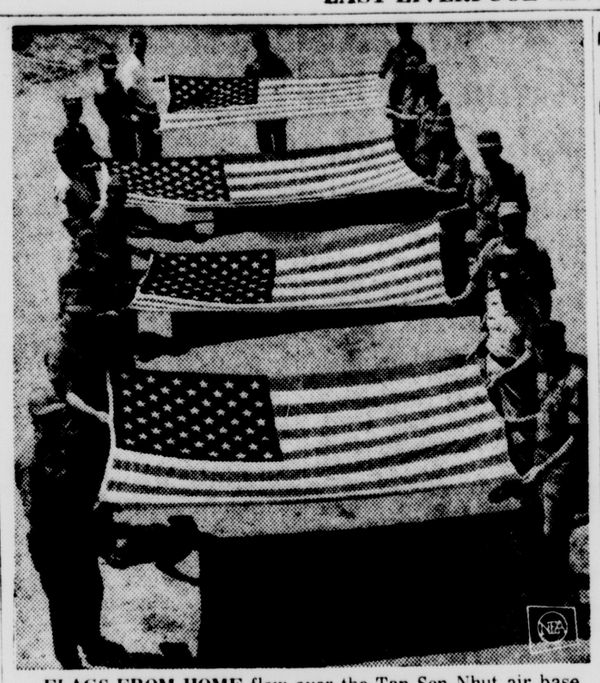
This week the council launched a new appeal to Thant.

The secretary-general agreed to postpone his final decision, set for Wednesday, for two days.

Some delegates expressed the view that Thant's decision may have been influenced by the improving financial situation.

Japan announced Thursday—that it was helping out with a voluntary contribution of $2.5 million. Britain already has contributed $10 million, Canada $4 million and Sweden, Denmark, Norway and Iceland $3,780,000.

The Soviet Union and France, the two principal debtors, have made no contributions, but reliable sources say they have indicated to Thant that they will do so soon.



FLAGS FROM HOME flew over the Tan Son Nhut air base in Viet Nam for one day, as a project of school children at San Bernardino, Calif. Four schools in the area sent their flags with the request that they be flown in Viet Nam, as a gesture of the school's pride in American military men there.

the next 150 and $100 for the remaining 10, he explained.

Hall said the overall completed cost of the two high rise units may hit between $3.1 and $3.9 million, including acquisition of sites, all the incidental expenses and the construction costs.

He said experience has shown the finished cost ranges from $12,000 to $15,000 per unit.

Tennants' rent will amortize the cost over a 40-year period, according to the plan. Hall said the projects generally are financed through bond issues.

The HUD projects provide for payments to local communities in lieu of the real estate taxes that would be collected if the property were privately-owned.

Plans for the low rent housing here have been under way for nearly two years.

The program is administered by the housing authority, which was created by county commissioners. City Council enacted legislation as part of the application for federal aid. Mayor George E. Willshaw prepared the "workable program" on which the city bases its requests for aid in housing and other community projects.

cess to nuclear arms, under any form whatsoever."

Kosygin called for the dissolution of military alliances in Europe, repeating in another form an old Soviet offer to disband the Warsaw Pact alliance in return for the breakup of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

This appeal was significant. President Charles de Gaulle has withdrawn his country from NATO's military organization and is in the process of expelling Allied troops and bases from France.

Kosygin, who made his City Hall statement after a two-hour meeting with De Gaulle at the presidential palace, said France and the Soviet Union, despite different social systems, were working together "to prevent the European Continent from becoming an arena for dangerous political and military adventures."

He said Franco-Soviet effort toward an East-West rapprochement "is finding greater and greater sympathy" in other countries.

Transport Union Agrees To Delay Airline Strike

BULLETIN

NEW YORK (AP) — The Transport Workers Union (TWU) agreed today to an hour-to-hour postponement of a strike that would ground Pan American World Airways, the nation's largest international airline.

NEW YORK (AP)—A union negotiator said today Pan American World Airways made a new offer to the Transport Workers Union in an effort to head off a strike threatening to ground the nation's largest international airline at noon today.

The negotiators, who did not identify himself, made the statement as negotiations resumed at 9 a.m.

He said Pan Am called the offer "final." He said, "This is the third final offer from management."

The public relations officer for the union said he had no knowledge of the reported Pan Am offer.

A strike by 13,000 union members who service Pan Am's planes on a 90-nation network also could lead to the suspension of Pan Am's government-contracted airlift of military personnel to Viet Nam.

Pan American, the nation's largest international carrier, carries about 16,500 passengers on its normal daily schedule of 360 flights in 128 cities.

The dispute, called "most frustrating" by mediator C. Robert Roadley of the National Conference Board, centered around a 15 per cent wage increase over 2½ years recommended by a presidential fact-finding panel.

The TWU contended the report was only a basis for further negotiations while Pan Am said it could not accept a contract that would surpass the panel's cost formula. The carrier has proposed settlement with the federal plan as a guide. The union originally had sought a 30 per cent increase over two years but reportedly reduced the money demand recently.

Involved are ground personnel and mechanics, who make $2.71 to $3.55 an hour under the old contract; stewardesses who average $419 a month, and pursers whose monthly pay is $570.

February Draft Set By Pentagon At 10,900 Men

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The Pentagon called today for a February draft of 10,900 men, the lowest monthly manpower request since March 1965.

Only a few days ago the Pentagon cut the January draft from an originally set 27,600 to 16,600.

The low 1966 draft calls were forecast by secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara after recent discussions with President Johnson on future military needs.

McNamara has said the United States is approaching a leveling off point in both manpower and defense production requirements.

The 10,900 men requested of the Selective Service will go to the Army.

Postmaster Exam Set For Job At Negley

The U.S. Civil Service Commission at Washington announced today an examination will be held in the near future for the position of postmaster at Negley.

The former postmaster, Harry Bricker, retired Nov. 1. Mrs. Sara McLaughlin has been serving as acting postmaster.

The position pays $6,113 a year. Applications, which must be mailed to Washington, will be accepted until Dec. 27. The commission said:

Applicants must have at least one year of experience (education above high school level may be substituted for six months of experience) showing that they have the ability to maintain simple records of accounts or that it has given them a knowledge of postal procedures.

"They also must show that they are of good reputation and that they can meet and deal with the public agreeably and effectively."

Applicants must take a written test. Those who pass will be assigned final ratings on the basis of this test, on their experience and fitness for the position. They must have resided within the delivery of the post office for one year immediately preceding the closing date of the examination. In addition, they must have reached their 18th birthday on the closing date for acceptance of applications. Persons over 70 cannot be appointed.

Complete information about the examination requirements and instructions for filing applications may be obtained at the Negley post office.

Application forms must be filed with the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C. 20415.

U.S. Jobless Rate Hits '66 Low Of 3.7%

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate dropped back to its 1966 low of 3.7 per cent last month and total employment hit an all-time November high of 75 million, the Labor Department reported today.

The jobless rate declined from 3.9 per cent in October to 3.7 per cent in November. It was the third time this year the rate had hit that level, the lowest in 13 years.

The number of unemployed last month was 2,650,000.

Total employment soared by 300,000, compared with a usual November drop of 600,000.

"Some of the increase is a purely temporary phenomenon," said Asst. Commissioner Harold Goldstein of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

He said several hundred thousand women got temporary jobs election day and this surge in jobs disappeared the following week.

But, Goldstein added, "some of the employment increase is real and reflects a continuing strong job situation."

The U.S. has the highest marriage rate in the world.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Certainly to Civil War enthusiasts, the Mason - Dixon line is the best - known boundary in the United States. The line was named after Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon, both mathematicians, who came from England in 1763 to help settle a long - standing boundary dispute between Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland. So accurate was the line they drew, according to The World Almanac, that a resurvey in 1963 proved the original markers to be amazingly exact.

CONTACT LENSES FOR TEENAGERS
Q. I am 14 and wear glasses for nearsigthedness. Am I too young for contacts?
A. Contact lenses are generally considered safe for individuals of any age who have sufficient desire to wear them and who, in the opinion of the eye specialist, have otherwise normal eyes. Consult an ophthalmologist (eye doctor). If you have any condition which would make it unwise for you to wear contacts he will advise you of the fact.
MUMPS
Q. Should children, especially little boys, be deliberately exposed to mumps so they won't have it later on?
A. The idea of "getting it over with" arises because children rarely have complications with mumps, whereas adults, especially men, often develop serious trouble during and after the disease. While it may be desirable to have mumps early, deliberate exposure is unwise because serious complications sometimes do occur in children. Also, the exposed child may bring mumps home and give it to adults in the household. Wellsville Fire Chief Cautions On Thawing

With cold weather here, Wellsville Fire Chief Robert Lewis today reminded residents not to use open flame devices to thaw frozen water pipes.

Lewis said his department traditionally must answer fire calls at the beginning of winter to homes where someone has used a torch or rolled-up newspaper as a source of heat in breaking up iced pipes. Recommended as alternate means of getting the job done were hot water, if available, heat lamps, heating pads or special tape sold by hardware stores for that purpose.

The Cottage Cheese Latest Dance Craze

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cottage Cheese is the latest dance craze which its sponsors expect will replace the Mashed Potato, the Watusi, the Monkey, the Chicken, the Ska and the Frug.

Fen K. Doscher, senior vice president of the Lily - Tulip Cup Corp., said the dance was created for teen-agers as part of a program to stimulate the use of the low-calorie, high-protein cottage cheese.

He said several hundred disc jockeys across the country are playing instructional recordings of the dance whose choreographic theme is a camel - like shuffle. It is associated with an Arab trader who, it is said, accidentally discovered the white curd when his milk supply lumped up on a desert trek more than 2,000 years ago. The curds were a primitive cottage cheese form which he found tasty.

Surplus Food Setup Ends As Stamps Start

LISBON — The final distribution in Columbiana County's surplus food program, established in April 1959, ended last month with 1,577 receiving 22,091 pounds of free food.

A food stamp program sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture went into operation in the county Thursday.

Donald P. Hepp, county welfare director, said the food recipients in November represented 88 per cent of the 1,776 certified eligible.

The federal food coupon program is for all who have been receiving surplus food and, in addition, for low - income families or individuals who have not been on public assistance.

Hepp said people who think they may be eligible for food coupons should inquire at the Welfare Department office, 117 E. Washington St., here.

The following breakdown issued last month at distribution centers in East Liverpool, Salem, Wellsville, East Palestine and Lisbon:

Flour, 5,139 pounds; cornmeal, 4,435; canned meat, 3,128, powdered milk, 2,502; margarine, 2,074; rolled wheat, 1,488; lard, 1,328; raisins, 970; peanut butter, 460; rice, 278 and beans, 248.

Commissioners Okay New Car

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Thursday accepted a proposal of Wilbur L. Coy Co., Inc., Salem, to furnish a 1967 Buick Lesabre for the sheriff's use at $2,200.

There was one other bid—$2,396 from Columbiana Buick-Oldsmobile.

Both bids included a trade-in allowance on the sheriff's 1963 Buick two - door sedan.

Commissioners approved two plats:

Richard H. and Jean Stoddard's Scenic Hills addition in Section 30, Liverpool Township, and Robert and Mabel P. Trotter's Beaver Crest Estates in Section 11, St. Clair Township.

Scenic Hills contains 5.1 acres —3.3 acres in six lots and 1.8 in the street — Zenith Court.

The Trotter layout shows 16 lots totaling 3 acres and 2 acres in a street and private drive.

The Lincoln Highway was opened in 1913.

Skids Blamed In 2 Crashes

Slippery road conditions were blamed for two auto accidents in Hancock County early Thursday night, the sheriff's department reported.

A 1958 auto driven by Judy Moire, 20, of Hookstown, descending the Lawrenceville hill towards Chester about 7:20, collided with an oncoming 1963 model car driven by Lois Cullifer, 40, of Chester, causing total damage estimated at $300.

In a one-car mishap at about 7:30, Jesse Milhimes Jr., 22, of Chester received head injuries when his northbound 1957 auto slid on West Virginia Route 2 and struck a telephone pole near Tomlinson Run State Park.

Milhimes was taken to Weirton General Hospital for treatment. His car was demolished.

The sheriff's department reported today all Hancock County roads are passable but icy and very slippery in spots and urged extreme caution on the part of motorists.

Approximately 70 per cent of the water that falls on land returns to the atmosphere through evaporation.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cottage Cheese is the latest dance craze which its sponsors expect will replace the Mashed Potato, the Watusi, the Monkey, the Chicken, the Ska and the Frug.

Speck To Stand Trial In County Outside Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard Speck, accused of strangling and stabbing to death eight student nurses, will stand trial downstate in an effort to obtain a jury unbiased by pretrial publicity.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen granted a motion for a change of location Thursday, saying, "There is nothing I can do. It now becomes my duty to select another county where I believe the defendant can obtain a fair trial."

Speck, charged with murdering the nurses in their South Side living quarters July 14, heard public defender Gerald Getty ask for a change of venue on the grounds that news coverage of the crime would have an influence on Chicago jurors.

Paschen, after hearing arguments from Getty and William Martin, assistant state's attorney, will select a site for the trial Dec. 19.

Getty and Martin were told to submit by next Thursday lists of suggested county seats where Speck might be tried.

Dangerous Space Instrument Has Been Recovered

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A potentially dangerous space instrument, designed to measure radiation that might harm moon-bound astronauts, has been recovered in Oakdale, about 80 miles from San Francisco International Airport where it disappeared Wednesday night.

The instrument, valued at $15,000, contained argon gas at a pressure of 100 pounds per square inch. It could have exploded if tampered with.

Officers said Ray Phillips, an Oakdale lumber yard owner, and Quinnan Sisco, Phillips' employe, found the device in the airport garage and took it to Oakdale.

They told police they heard a newscast warning of the potential danger and notified police.

Richard Paoli, an electrical engineer with the University of California Space Sciences Laboratory at Berkeley, said he inadvertently left the instrument at the garage as he and Roland Scholz were taking it to the Berkeley laboratory from the Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Md.

Seventy-seven prisoners were released and nine were conveyed to state institutions.

Deputies served 330 papers and handled 4,566 radio transmissions and 1,005 telephone calls. Sheriff's deputies in the office at the courthouse accepted 58 sets of fox feet and ears for the $3 bounty. Fees totaling $761.85 were collected.

Random Poll At Convention

OEA Delegates Indicate Teacher Strikes Wrong

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— A random poll of delegates to the Ohio Education Association's annual convention indicates individual members agree with their leaders that strikes by school teachers are wrong.

Comments ranged from "illegal" to "immoral" and "unprofessional" Thursday as the big educational organization convened its three-day meeting at Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

None of the delegates questioned said he was a member of the Ohio Federation of Teachers which backed strikes by its local chapters recently in Youngstown and Hubbard.

Typical was the comment of one of the better known educators in the OEA. State Sen.-elect Walter E. Powell of Fairfield, also a veteran educator, called teacher strikes "unprofessional" and added "when a teacher has a contract, he has no right to violate it."

Powell said he believes a better answer might be "the new approach of imposing sanctions" on states or school districts to improve the lot of the teacher.

But Powell added that sanctions still are questionable in terms of effectiveness. "As far as I know, they have not proven to be effective but neither have they been proven ineffective," he said. He was a member of the Ohio House Education Committee in the last legislature.

Pierre Earney, a teacher from Euclid, said "I don't go along with the idea of strikes. It is true that something needs to be done but I think it is in terms of more action in the local associations. We need to improve our bargaining position with school boards."

Mrs. Alma Bernhardt, high school teacher from Summit County, attacked teacher strikes on moral grounds. She said teachers have no right to strike "because it is the children who suffer. The OEA must take the place of these unions. They know more about the problems and are better equipped to deal with them."

Roger Gable, teacher from Dayton, said he felt teacher strikes are illegal "because it already has been determined that school teachers are public employes and the law is pretty clear on that."

The more than 1,000 delegates at the opening day session cleared the way for a vote on a proposed constitutional change which the OEA's new executive secretary, Dr. Stayner F. Brighton, endorsed in an interview Tuesday.

It would give the association's executive committee the power to expell members suspected of being union infiltrators whose "activity is directed against the constitution of the association."

Brighton said in endorsing the proposal that it was designed at "preventing people from using dual (union and OEA) membership to under cut our organization."

Blast Threat Forces Evacuation At School

CLEVELAND (AP)— About 3,250 students and 200 teachers were evacuated from Cleveland Heights High School Thursday because of a threat of a chemical explosion.

Assistant Principal Albert L. Daugherty said that reaction of chemicals stored in a metal container in a chemistry stock room posed the threat.

Firemen and service department employes ordered everyone out of the building, then carried out the metal box containing the chemicals.

Chapter Begins Plans For Annual Dimes Plea

"Birth defects are the nation's second greatest destroyer of life—the greatest childhood health problem in the United States today," Richard G. Brian, president of the Columbiana County chapter of the March of Dimes, said Wednesday night during the chapter's annual dinner at the Wick Hotel in Lisbon.

The campaign for funds will be held during January.

"Birth defects do not happen to 'other people' or other people's children," he added. "They are universal, striking rich and poor, all races and all nationalities."

Louis J. Raymond Jr. of Salem, whom Brian has named as his assistant, spoke briefly on the care currently being given 21 Columbiana County birth defect children, a large number of them in Salem. "This community has suffered a veritable siege of birth defect children in the past year," he said.

Plans for the annual drive, to be held in January, were outlined by Brian, who named area chairmen for the county. They include:

Salem, Ford Joseph; East Liverpool, Wally Crooks and Harold Gender; Wellsville, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Broderick; Columbiana, Mrs. Hugh Kendall and Raymond Cole; East Palestine, Mrs. Mildred Oliver; Lisbon, Fayson Miller and Mrs. Blanche Neill; Damascus, Mrs. Eileen Bush and Mrs. Ruth Perkins; Winona, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mayhew; West Point, Mrs. Mary Mellon and Mrs. Dorothy Smith; Salineville, Charles Mundy and Mrs. Orpha Skinner; Guilford Lake area, James E.Baxter.

The Crestview High School Key Club will handle the New Waterford area, with the East Liverpool High School Key Club conducting the drive in the Calcutta and Rogers area. Each chairman will set the date for the canvass for his area.

This year's delegate to the annual convention Dec. 7-8-9 in New York will be Mrs. Augusta Ibele of Salem, a long-time worker in the county chapter.

Wellsville Post To Conduct Test Tuesday In Ohio Event

Wellsville American Legion Post 70 will conduct an Americanism and government test for Wellsville High School students Tuesday at 6 p.m. at the post home.

Francis House, commander, said the test is open to all sophomore, junior and senior members of the school under 18.

Those over 18 may take the test for their own benefit, but are not eligible for competition. Sponsored by the Ohio Department, nearly 300 posts are participating in the program.

Six winners will be selected from Post 70, a boy and a girl in each of the three classes. The winners will be certified to Dean Wright, Columbiana County Legion commander. The county will select winners to participate in the state contest.

Twelve will participate in the state examination at Columbus, with two winners advancing to the national competition at Washington.

Post 70 will award a bronze Americanism medal to each winner. The local winners also will receive a department certificate.

Between 50 and 60 are expected to participate. The test will require an hour, with the papers to be graded as quickly as possible. William Menough, high school principal, is cooperating with the Legion in the program, House said.

The test will be on the operation of the National, state and county governments and on flag etiquette. An essay question will be asked last. This will be used to determine a winner in the event of a tie.

Assisting House are James Ralston, Richie Messer, Roger Hobson and Ken Hoover.

Trustees Recommend Merger Of Case, WR

CLEVELAND (AP) — Case Institute of Technology and Western Reserve University, which have been neighbors since the 1880s, would join in forming one confederated school next year under a plan that has been recommended to trustees of both institutions.

United High School Students To Serve As 'Candystripers'

LISBON — The future white caps of United High School will serve as "candystripers" Saturdays and Sundays at the Columbiana County Home Hospital. The training project begins this weekend.

Like volunteer helpers in general hospitals, the girls will prepare patients for meals, carry trays, help feed patients and remove the trays.

United's Future Nurses group has 42 members, with Mrs. Martha Faloon of Hanoverton, school nurse, as sponsor.

She said Kathy Burick of Guilford Lake, club president, made arrangements for the project with Robert Boyce, County Home superintendent.

The schedule calls for four girls to be on duty from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and four others from 4 to 6 p.m. Mrs. Faloon said the schedule will give each girl a turn every two weeks. The candystripers will receive their meals while on duty.

Boyce reports completion of first - round flu shots for residents and employes. All 130 residents were offered the two-shot series free, while the employes paid 50 cents. The vaccine was purchased from the County Home fund.

Twenty - two employes, including the superintendent and his wife, Gladys, the home matron, are enrolled in a seven-week first - aid course at the home.

Cathy McPharon, a nurses' aide at the home and a qualified Red Cross first - aid instructor, is in charge of the two sessions each Wednesday afternoon. A seven - week advanced course will follow.

Joan Mercer of Winona, registered nurse at the home, is giving the group instruction in the more technical phases of hospital duties.

Boyce said the Senior Citizens Club of Lisbon delivered 130 Christmas treats to the home Tuesday.

Mayor Proposes Record Budget For Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A record city budget of $73.6 million for 1967 has been proposed by Mayor Joseph M. Barr.

In his budget message to city council Thursday, Barr requested pay hikes for city employes and real estate tax increases of three mills on land and 1½ mills on buildings.

The mayor proposed a pay hike of five per cent for those earning less than $10,000 a year and a flat $500 for those making more.

Barr told the council, which must approve the budget, that the tax increases are necessary if the city is to meet "the unceasing demands for improved and expanded services, and to provide a decent level of remuneration for its employes."

This year's budget was $70.6 million.

Typical was the comment of one of the better known educators in the OEA. State Sen.-elect Walter E. Powell of Fairfield, also a veteran educator, called teacher strikes "unprofessional" and added "when a teacher has a contract, he has no right to violate it."

Powell said he believes a better answer might be "the new approach of imposing sanctions" on states or school districts to improve the lot of the teacher.

But Powell added that sanctions still are questionable in terms of effectiveness. "As far as I know, they have not proven to be effective but neither have they been proven ineffective," he said. He was a member of the Ohio House Education Committee in the last legislature.

Pierre Earney, a teacher from Euclid, said "I don't go along with the idea of strikes. It is true that something needs to be done but I think it is in terms of more action in the local associations. We need to improve our bargaining position with school boards."

Mrs. Alma Bernhardt, high school teacher from Summit County, attacked teacher strikes on moral grounds. She said teachers have no right to strike "because it is the children who suffer. The OEA must take the place of these unions. They know more about the problems and are better equipped to deal with them."

Roger Gable, teacher from Dayton, said he felt teacher strikes are illegal "because it already has been determined that school teachers are public employes and the law is pretty clear on that."

The more than 1,000 delegates at the opening day session cleared the way for a vote on a proposed constitutional change which the OEA's new executive secretary, Dr. Stayner F. Brighton, endorsed in an interview Tuesday.

It would give the association's executive committee the power to expell members suspected of being union infiltrators whose "activity is directed against the constitution of the association."

Brighton said in endorsing the proposal that it was designed at "preventing people from using dual (union and OEA) membership to under cut our organization."

Blast Threat Forces Evacuation At School

CLEVELAND (AP)— About 3,250 students and 200 teachers were evacuated from Cleveland Heights High School Thursday because of a threat of a chemical explosion.

Assistant Principal Albert L. Daugherty said that reaction of chemicals stored in a metal container in a chemistry stock room posed the threat.

Firemen and service department employes ordered everyone out of the building, then carried out the metal box containing the chemicals.

Chapter Begins Plans For Annual Dimes Plea

"Birth defects are the nation's second greatest destroyer of life—the greatest childhood health problem in the United States today," Richard G. Brian, president of the Columbiana County chapter of the March of Dimes, said Wednesday night during the chapter's annual dinner at the Wick Hotel in Lisbon.

The campaign for funds will be held during January.

"Birth defects do not happen to 'other people' or other people's children," he added. "They are universal, striking rich and poor, all races and all nationalities."

Louis J. Raymond Jr. of Salem, whom Brian has named as his assistant, spoke briefly on the care currently being given 21 Columbiana County birth defect children, a large number of them in Salem. "This community has suffered a veritable siege of birth defect children in the past year," he said.

Plans for the annual drive, to be held in January, were outlined by Brian, who named area chairmen for the county. They include:

Salem, Ford Joseph; East Liverpool, Wally Crooks and Harold Gender; Wellsville, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Broderick; Columbiana, Mrs. Hugh Kendall and Raymond Cole; East Palestine, Mrs. Mildred Oliver; Lisbon, Fayson Miller and Mrs. Blanche Neill; Damascus, Mrs. Eileen Bush and Mrs. Ruth Perkins; Winona, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mayhew; West Point, Mrs. Mary Mellon and Mrs. Dorothy Smith; Salineville, Charles Mundy and Mrs. Orpha Skinner; Guilford Lake area, James E.Baxter.

The Crestview High School Key Club will handle the New Waterford area, with the East Liverpool High School Key Club conducting the drive in the Calcutta and Rogers area. Each chairman will set the date for the canvass for his area.

This year's delegate to the annual convention Dec. 7-8-9 in New York will be Mrs. Augusta Ibele of Salem, a long-time worker in the county chapter.

Wellsville Post To Conduct Test Tuesday In Ohio Event

Wellsville American Legion Post 70 will conduct an Americanism and government test for Wellsville High School students Tuesday at 6 p.m. at the post home.

Francis House, commander, said the test is open to all sophomore, junior and senior members of the school under 18.

Those over 18 may take the test for their own benefit, but are not eligible for competition. Sponsored by the Ohio Department, nearly 300 posts are participating in the program.

Six winners will be selected from Post 70, a boy and a girl in each of the three classes. The winners will be certified to Dean Wright, Columbiana County Legion commander. The county will select winners to participate in the state contest.

Twelve will participate in the state examination at Columbus, with two winners advancing to the national competition at Washington.

Post 70 will award a bronze Americanism medal to each winner. The local winners also will receive a department certificate.

Between 50 and 60 are expected to participate. The test will require an hour, with the papers to be graded as quickly as possible. William Menough, high school principal, is cooperating with the Legion in the program, House said.

The test will be on the operation of the National, state and county governments and on flag etiquette. An essay question will be asked last. This will be used to determine a winner in the event of a tie.

Assisting House are James Ralston, Richie Messer, Roger Hobson and Ken Hoover.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Case Institute of Technology and Western Reserve University, which have been neighbors since the 1880s, would join in forming one confederated school next year under a plan that has been recommented to trustees of both institutions.

A study commission recommended Thursday that the two schools join "in a federated university, to be called Case-Western Reserve University."

United High School Students To Serve As 'Candystripers'

LISBON — The future white caps of United High School will serve as "candystripers" Saturdays and Sundays at the Columbiana County Home Hospital. The training project begins this weekend.

Like volunteer helpers in general hospitals, the girls will prepare patients for meals, carry trays, help feed patients and remove the trays.

United's Future Nurses group has 42 members, with Mrs. Martha Faloon of Hanoverton, school nurse, as sponsor.

She said Kathy Burick of Guilford Lake, club president, made arrangements for the project with Robert Boyce, County Home superintendent.

The schedule calls for four girls to be on duty from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and four others from 4 to 6 p.m. Mrs. Faloon said the schedule will give each girl a turn every two weeks. The candystripers will receive their meals while on duty.

Boyce reports completion of first - round flu shots for residents and employes. All 130 residents were offered the two-shot series free, while the employes paid 50 cents. The vaccine was purchased from the County Home fund.

Twenty - two employes, including the superintendent and his wife, Gladys, the home matron, are enrolled in a seven-week first - aid course at the home.

Cathy McPharon, a nurses' aide at the home and a qualified Red Cross first - aid instructor, is in charge of the two sessions each Wednesday afternoon. A seven - week advanced course will follow.

Joan Mercer of Winona, registered nurse at the home, is giving the group instruction in the more technical phases of hospital duties.

Boyce said the Senior Citizens Club of Lisbon delivered 130 Christmas treats to the home Tuesday.

Mayor Proposes Record Budget For Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A record city budget of $73.6 million for 1967 has been proposed by Mayor Joseph M. Barr.

In his budget message to city council Thursday, Barr requested pay hikes for city employes and real estate tax increases of three mills on land and 1½ mills on buildings.

The mayor proposed a pay hike of five per cent for those earning less than $10,000 a year and a flat $500 for those making more.

Barr told the council, which must approve the budget, that the tax increases are necessary if the city is to meet "the unceasing demands for improved and expanded services, and to provide a decent level of remuneration for its employes."

This year's budget was $70.6 million.

Patrol Cites 4 Motorists

Four motorists were cited for speed in excess of road and weather conditions as the result of four area accidents investigated Thursday by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Harry R. McDade of Rogers R. D. 1 was cited after his car hit the left rear of a tractor-trailer truck at 1 p. m. on Route 154, about four miles west of Route 7. Officers said McDade, 67, pulled out to pass the truck, operated by Edwin Crail of Evans City, Pa.

Cars operated by Glenda M. Bock, 36, of Wellsville R. D. 1 and Eileen A. Grabiak, 22, of 45 Garfield St., Lisbon, were involved in a collision at 8:10 a.m. on Route 30, nine miles north of County Rd. 430.

Both were southbound when the Lisbon woman halted for another car making a right turn and was hit in the rear by the Wellsville woman, who was cited for speed.

A car operated by James E. Shields, 25, of Wellsville R. D. 1 was struck by another operated by Anna M. Burrows, 31, of E. Rebecca St., East Palestine, at 6 p. m. on Route 170, almost two miles south of East Palestine.

Shields was disabled and halted on the road, officers reported. The woman was cited.

Cars operated by Pauline T. Drexler, 43, of Columbiana, Dean L. Morrison, 16, of Columbiana and John T. Thompson, 54, of 119 Pritchard Ave., Lisbon, were involved in an accident at 4:30 p. m. on Route 164 just over two miles north of Route 558.

Officers said prior to the accident, Thompson was stuck in a ditch. He pulled onto the highway and Morrison drove left of center to avoid a collision. Instead, he hit head-on with the oncoming Drexler car and then bounced into Thompson. Morrison was cited.

Viet Nam

the outlook for victory in Viet Nam through military action must now look exceedingly dim to the Communist leaders. These leaders also must realize now that their hopes for a political breakdown in South Viet Nam have little basis, it was said.

Officials pointed to reports of 5,700 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed during October, compared with 900 South Vietnamese and 340 Americans. They also pointed to the increasing number of Communist fighters captured — 2,416 during October compared with 2,200 in the July-September period.

Lone City Crash Damages 2 Cars

Two autos were damaged in the city's lone traffic mishap overnight, police reported.

The collision, timed at 4:24 p. m. Thursday at Broadway and E. 4th St., involved a 1960 sedan driven by Billie F. Ross, 31, of Wellsville R. D. 1 and a 1959 two - door sedan operated by Gary H. McKee, 21, of Calcutta.

Ross told Patrolman Karl Samples he was driving south on Broadway and McKee, headed north, made a left turn in his path. McKee told the officer his view was blocked by a truck which he was following.

The mishap damaged the left front of each auto, police said.

Hearings Scheduled For 3 Cited Drivers

Municipal Court hearings are scheduled Monday and Tuesday for three motorists cited by the State Highway Patrol Thursday on charges of speeding on Route 7.

William C. Hogue, 39, of Irondale and Albert C. Coffman Jr. of Steubenville are slated to appear Monday before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. Hogue was cited on a charge of driving 80 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone, while Coffman was accused of driving 60 in a 50-mile zone.

Irma Ruth McGarey, 48, of 247 Highland Ave., Wellsville, will appear Tuesday on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone. She was cited yesterday at 4:50 p.m.

County Housing Board Session Set Thursday

The Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority will meet Thursday night at 7:30 in Mayor George E. Willshaw's office at City Hall, Merrill D. Hall, secretary, said today.

Don Eckert, chairman of the City Planning Commission, and Harold Maylone, chairman of the City Council planning committee, have been invited to attend to discuss proposed sites for low rent housing projects, Hall said.

The authority will seek the views of Eckert and Maylone in order to avoid any conflict with the city's "master plan" and zoning regulations, Hall said.

At Dinner Thursday

Retired Fireman Honored

William Raney (center) and Delmar Manning received retirement badges from Jerry Goodballet, secretary of Local 24 of the International Order of Firefighters, during a dinner Thursday night at the Central Station.

Raney, 78, retired in 1959 after 25 years' service and Manning, 66, left the department last summer after 29 years. John Bromby, who retired in April after 26 years, was unable to attend due to illness. He resides in Cleveland with a daughter.

Don Eckert was guest speaker.

Be Prepared! Drivers Told After Tieups

Motorists who ventured onto the streets without proper equipment on their cars and lacking adequate foresight were responsible for some of the traffic tieups in East Liverpool in the new snow storm Thursday night, Mayor George E. Willshaw said today.

Drivers who "take a chance" by attempting to negotiate slippery streets without snow tires or chains are a menace to themselves and the public, sometimes causing inconvenience to dozens of others who are prepared adequately, the mayor commented.

As an example of unpreparedness and lack of foresight, he cited a traffic snarl about 7 last night on the Lisbon St. Hill.

"I drove up the grade about 6 and the pavement was so clear you could have struck a match on it," the mayor said. "But by 7, it was covered with snow. I saw a long traffic tieup in the upbound lane and I learned later it was caused by a woman driver at the head of the line whose car ran out of gas.

"When her car stopped, another driver attempted to pull around and his auto got hung up. Consequently, city ash trucks were not able to get to the grade for some time."

The mayor said no motorist should venture a winter trip with a near-empty gas tank. There's always the possibility the car will be snarled in a traffic jam and the tank will run dry while the motor is idling, he pointed out.

In addition, a full tank helps avoid condensation of moisture during cold weather and adds weight that provides better traction for the rear wheels, he commented.

The mayor said he also observed a pickup truck "skidding all over the street" and menacing other traffic. He said he observed the truck had "balu" tires on the rear wheels.

"If everyone would make certain his car was equipped properly and in good running order, many of our winter traffic tieups could be avoided," the mayor said. "I think all drivers owe it to themselves and others to make certain they are prepared properly."

Report Of Motorist Seeing Cow Too True

LAWRENCEBURG, Ky. (AP) — A motorist stopped State Trooper Leslie Higgins to report he'd seen a cow on the highway. Higgins investigated but found nothing.

An hour later, Higgins received a call about an accident.

Arriving at the scene, Higgins found an auto had hit a cow. The driver was the one who turned in the report earlier.

Charges Due In Enterings

An East Liverpool resident is to be charged this afternoon with breaking and entering following two burglaries in Wellsville.

He is Lester Gilbert Chapman, who gave his address as 724 Green Ln.

Police Chief John Hephner said the suspect was seen emerging from Pop's Tavern at 1701 Main St. about 6 a. m. today after a tip was received at headquarters that a break-in was in progrses.

Also burglarized was the West End Bar at 1747 Main St.

Three fifths of whisky were taken from Pop's Tavern, according to Millicent Betz, proprietor. Entrance was made through a window.

Mrs. Ruth Infanti, wife of the owner of the West End Bar, said "at least $100" in cash was taken from the juke box and bowling machine there. A window facing 17th St. was smashed in, police said.

Hephner said the charges will be filed in Southwest Area county court at Lisbon.

Rev. Gene Toot Picked For Board's Vacancy

The Rev. Gene Toot of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church has been named to an unexpired term on the Community Relations Board following the resignation of the Rev. Albert Rodenhausen of the First Baptist Church, Mayor George E. Willshaw announced today.

Rev. Rodenhausen resigned the post after he was transferred to a new pastorate at Battle Creek, Mich. The unexpired term runs until March 4, 1968.

The board was established approximately three years ago to hear complaints of alleged discrimination because of race, creed or national origin. The mayor is chairman.

'College Day' Set Monday Morning

"College Day" will be held Monday morning at Oak Glen High School, with representatives of 20 educational centers due to attend, E. Russell Slack, principal, announced today.

Students will be permitted to register for four interviews of 30 minutes each from 9 to 11 a.m. in the field house on the campus, Slack said.

The following schools will be represented:

Slack also urged parents to attend.

Long trousers for American men first appeared on the scene in about 1800, being imported from Paris.

ask a reopening of its working agreements.

The IBOP also announced its Executive Board, comprised of the 12 top international officers, will meet in Cleveland Jan. 16-18, immediately prior to the session of the wage policy committees.

The policy committees "will draft proposals for negotiations with the employers," the international union said. It added that "all indications are that the potters' union members are thinking in strong terms of economic improvements and other benefits that other American labor unions have attained during the year."

As part of the current agreement with the U. S. Potters Association, a 5-cent hourly increase went into effect Thursday for workers in the generalware plants. Chinaware workers received an additional boost of 4 cents hourly last August as part of the present agreement.

The IBOP listed the names of wage policy committee members elected by their local unions. Generalware committee members from East Liverpool locals are:

Frank Brown, Floyd Jividen and Arthur Parrish, Local 9; William C. Barrett and John Hart, Local 86; Mary McGowan, Dorothee Prosser and Helen Shively, Local 94; Zelma Holman, Sherwood Robinson and Barbara Walker, Local 124; Ross Urie, Local 148; Villa Carraher and Mildred Ward, Local 195; John Andrason, Hugh Eberhart and Carl Warning, Local 320; and Roy E. Patrol Cites 4 Motorists

Four motorists were cited for speed in excess of road and weather conditions as the result of four area accidents investigated Thursday by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Harry R. McDade of Rogers R. D. 1 was cited after his car hit the left rear of a tractor-trailer truck at 1 p. m. on Route 154, about four miles west of Route 7. Officers said McDade, 67, pulled out to pass the truck, operated by Edwin Crail of Evans City, Pa.

Cars operated by Glenda M. Bock, 36, of Wellsville R. D. 1 and Eileen A. Grabiak, 22, of 45 Garfield St., Lisbon, were involved in a collision at 8:10 a.m. on Route 30, nine miles north of County Rd. 430.

Both were southbound when the Lisbon woman halted for another car making a right turn and was hit in the rear by the Wellsville woman, who was cited for speed.

A car operated by James E. Shields, 25, of Wellsville R. D. 1 was struck by another operated by Anna M. Burrows, 31, of E. Rebecca St., East Palestine, at 6 p. m. on Route 170, almost two miles south of East Palestine.

Shields was disabled and halted on the road, officers reported. The woman was cited.

Cars operated by Pauline T. Drexler, 43, of Columbiana, Dean L. Morrison, 16, of Columbiana and John T. Thompson, 54, of 119 Pritchard Ave., Lisbon, were involved in an accident at 4:30 p. m. on Route 164 just over two miles north of Route 558.

Officers said prior to the accident, Thompson was stuck in a ditch. He pulled onto the highway and Morrison drove left of center to avoid a collision. Instead, he hit head-on with the oncoming Drexler car and then bounced into Thompson. Morrison was cited.

the outlook for victory in Viet Nam through military action must now look exceedingly dim to the Communist leaders. These leaders also must realize now that their hopes for a political breakdown in South Viet Nam have little basis, it was said.

Officials pointed to reports of 5,700 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed during October, compared with 900 South Vietnamese and 340 Americans. They also pointed to the increasing number of Communist fighters captured — 2,416 during October compared with 2,200 in the July-September period.

Lone City Crash Damages 2 Cars

Two autos were damaged in the city's lone traffic mishap overnight, police reported.

The collision, timed at 4:24 p. m. Thursday at Broadway and E. 4th St., involved a 1960 sedan driven by Billie F. Ross, 31, of Wellsville R. D. 1 and a 1959 two - door sedan operated by Gary H. McKee, 21, of Calcutta.

Ross told Patrolman Karl Samples he was driving south on Broadway and McKee, headed north, made a left turn in his path. McKee told the officer his view was blocked by a truck which he was following.

The mishap damaged the left front of each auto, police said.

Hearings Scheduled For 3 Cited Drivers

Municipal Court hearings are scheduled Monday and Tuesday for three motorists cited by the State Highway Patrol Thursday on charges of speeding on Route 7.

William C. Hogue, 39, of Irondale and Albert C. Coffman Jr. of Steubenville are slated to appear Monday before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. Hogue was cited on a charge of driving 80 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone, while Coffman was accused of driving 60 in a 50-mile zone.

Irma Ruth McGarey, 48, of 247 Highland Ave., Wellsville, will appear Tuesday on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone. She was cited yesterday at 4:50 p.m.

County Housing Board Session Set Thursday

The Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority will meet Thursday night at 7:30 in Mayor George E. Willshaw's office at City Hall, Merrill D. Hall, secretary, said today.

Don Eckert, chairman of the City Planning Commission, and Harold Maylone, chairman of the City Council planning committee, have been invited to attend to discuss proposed sites for low rent housing projects, Hall said.

The authority will seek the views of Eckert and Maylone in order to avoid any conflict with the city's "master plan" and zoning regulations, Hall said.

At Dinner Thursday

Retired Fireman Honored

William Raney (center) and Delmar Manning received retirement badges from Jerry Goodballet, secretary of Local 24 of the International Order of Firefighters, during a dinner Thursday night at the Central Station.

Raney, 78, retired in 1959 after 25 years' service and Manning, 66, left the department last summer after 29 years. John Bromby, who retired in April after 26 years, was unable to attend due to illness. He resides in Cleveland with a daughter.

Don Eckert was guest speaker.

Be Prepared! Drivers Told After Tieups

Motorists who ventured onto the streets without proper equipment on their cars and lacking adequate foresight were responsible for some of the traffic tieups in East Liverpool in the new snow storm Thursday night, Mayor George E. Willshaw said today.

Drivers who "take a chance" by attempting to negotiate slippery streets without snow tires or chains are a menace to themselves and the public, sometimes causing inconvenience to dozens of others who are prepared adequately, the mayor commented.

As an example of unpreparedness and lack of foresight, he cited a traffic snarl about 7 last night on the Lisbon St. Hill.

"I drove up the grade about 6 and the pavement was so clear you could have struck a match on it," the mayor said. "But by 7, it was covered with snow. I saw a long traffic tieup in the upbound lane and I learned later it was caused by a woman driver at the head of the line whose car ran out of gas.

"When her car stopped, another driver attempted to pull around and his auto got hung up. Consequently, city ash trucks were not able to get to the grade for some time."

The mayor said no motorist should venture a winter trip with a near-empty gas tank. There's always the possibility the car will be snarled in a traffic jam and the tank will run dry while the motor is idling, he pointed out.

In addition, a full tank helps avoid condensation of moisture during cold weather and adds weight that provides better traction for the rear wheels, he commented.

The mayor said he also observed a pickup truck "skidding all over the street" and menacing other traffic. He said he observed the truck had "bald" tires on the rear wheels.

"If everyone would make certain his car was equipped properly and in good running order, many of our winter traffic tieups could be avoided," the mayor said. "I think all drivers owe it to themselves and others to make certain they are prepared properly."

Report Of Motorist Seeing Cow Too True

LAWRENCEBURG, Ky. (AP) — A motorist stopped State Trooper Leslie Higgins to report he'd seen a cow on the highway. Higgins investigated but found nothing.

An hour later, Higgins received a call about an accident.

Arriving at the scene, Higgins found an auto had hit a cow. The driver was the one who turned in the report earlier.

Charges Due In Enterings

An East Liverpool resident is to be charged this afternoon with breaking and entering following two burglaries in Wellsville.

He is Lester Gilbert Chapman, who gave his address as 724 Green Ln.

Police Chief John Hephner said the suspect was seen emerging from Pop's Tavern at 1701 Main St. about 6 a. m. today after a tip was received at headquarters that a break-in was in progrses.

Also burglarized was the West End Bar at 1747 Main St.

Three fifths of whisky were taken from Pop's Tavern, according to Millicent Betz, proprietor. Entrance was made through a window.

Mrs. Ruth Infanti, wife of the owner of the West End Bar, said "at least $100" in cash was taken from the juke box and bowling machine there. A window facing 17th St. was smashed in, police said.

Hephner said the charges will be filed in Southwest Area county court at Lisbon.

Rev. Gene Toot Picked For Board's Vacancy

The Rev. Gene Toot of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church has been named to an unexpired term on the Community Relations Board following the resignation of the Rev. Albert Rodenhausen of the First Baptist Church, Mayor George E. Willshaw announced today.

Rev. Rodenhausen resigned the post after he was transferred to a new pastorate at Battle Creek, Mich. The unexpired term runs until March 4, 1968.

The board was established approximately three years ago to hear complaints of alleged discrimination because of race, creed or national origin. The mayor is chairman.

'College Day' Set Monday Morning

"College Day" will be held Monday morning at Oak Glen High School, with representatives of 20 educational centers due to attend, E. Russell Slack, principal, announced today.

Students will be permitted to register for four interviews of 30 minutes each from 9 to 11 a.m. in the field house on the campus, Slack said.

The following schools will be represented:

Alderson - Broaddus, Beckley, Bethany, Concord, Davis and Elkins, Fairmont State, Geneva, Glenville State, Kent State Branch, Marshall, Ohio Valley Business College, Parsons, Potomac State, Steubenville, Air Force Academy, West Liberty State, West Virginia Institute of Technology, West Virginia, West Virginia Wesleyan College and Wheeling.

Slack also urged parents to attend.

Long trousers for American men first appeared on the scene in about 1800, being imported from Paris.

ask a reopening of its working agreements.

The IBOP also announced its Executive Board, comprised of the 12 top international officers, will meet in Cleveland Jan. 16-18, immediately prior to the session of the wage policy committees.

The policy committees "will draft proposals for negotiations with the employers," the international union said. It added that "all indications are that the potters' union members are thinking in strong terms of economic improvements and other benefits that other American labor unions have attained during the year."

As part of the current agreement with the U. S. Potters Association, a 5-cent hourly increase went into effect Thursday for workers in the generalware plants. Chinaware workers received an additional boost of 4 cents hourly last August as part of the present agreement.

The IBOP listed the names of wage policy committee members elected by their local unions. Generalware committee members from East Liverpool locals are:

Frank Brown, Floyd Jividen and Arthur Parrish, Local 9; William C. Barrett and John Hart, Local 86; Mary McGowan, Dorothee Prosser and Helen Shively, Local 94; Zelma Holman, Sherwood Robinson and Barbara Walker, Local 124; Ross Urie, Local 148; Villa Carraher and Mildred Ward, Local 195; John Andrason, Hugh Eberhart and Carl Warning, Local 320; and Roy E. Hart, Perry Lamp and Lester D. McElhaney, Local 321.

Other generalware committee members from this district are:

William Dean Hively and Melvin Stark of Local 42 at Salem and Ada Sprankle of Local 31 in East Palestine.

Other chinaware committee members from this area are: Thomas McClain and Wayne Rose of Local 24 in Wellsville and Ralph Glaab Sr. and Andrew Toth of Local 33 in Beaver Falls.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN HORN

A Little Of This And That

Lauren Bacall and John Forsythe make their musical debut on ABC's "Stage 67" Feb. 9 in an hour with the jaw-breaking title of "The Light Fantastic, or How To Tell Your Past, Present and Maybe Future Through Social Dancing," a sort of social history of America in song and dance. . . .

David McCallum's father — he's D. McC. Sr. — opened last Sunday at New York's Philharmonic Hall and won nice notices for his violin solo of "Softly as I Leave You." The papa of the "Man From U.N.C.L.E." is concertmaster of the Mantovani Orchestra. . . .

PHYLLIS DILLER is taking along three pairs of bikinis and four pairs of contact lenses to Southeast Asia, which she's touring with the Bob Hope USO troupe (the NBC show to be telecast Jan. 18). Three pairs of bikinis? Phyllis Diller? She says her appearance will get U.S. troops over homesickness. . . .

Ronald Reagan will make his first TV special appearance since becoming governor of California in "Freedom's Finest Hour," being syndicated around the country. The show is being telecast in New York on independent Channel 11, Dec. 11. . . .

"Jericho," the World War II adventure series, is being replaced in mid-January by "Cavalcade," a special-event variety show featuring highlights of circuses, rodeos, ice shows and similar events. Joe Cates, who ran "International Showtime" and last summer's "Hippodrome," is producing for CBS.

HERE'S advance planning. "Christmas at Radio City Music Hall," the traditional pageant, will be filmed this year by NBC for telecast during next year's Yuletide season. . . .

"Fame Is the Name of the Game," the two-hour Universal film for TV and theaters on NBC last Saturday, was more like an expanded TV mystery than a film. The color was excellent, but the plot and dialogue were trite and the performances were lackluster, to say the most. . . .

In its report on freedom of information activity in TV and radio during 1966, Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalist society, looked askance at President Johnson's "re-do" of his June 18 news conference for TV as "separate but unequal," Defense Press Secretary Arthur Sylvester's continuing dispute with CBS correspondent Morley Safer and the individual clearance that was required — later eased to a blanket license — for North Vietnamese film. . . .

IN THE HALF-HOUR situation comedy series he's developing for NBC, producer Sheldon Leonard hopes to do for Jerry Van Dyke what was done for Jerry's brother, Dick. Lois Nettleton will play the wife of the night club comic Jerry will portray next season. . . .

Frank DeFelitta's "The American Image" began as a documentary on the history of American art but changed to a view of America through the artist's eye. Some 150 paintings will be shown in colorcast to be aired by NCB Jan. 29 or May 26. Aline Saarinen and John Lord wrote the script. . . .

DeFelitta, by the way, would like this next reality probe to be that of Germany. And the futures for NBC producer Ted Yates, after his three hours on "The Battle for Asia," Dec. 16, Jan. 8 and Feb. 5, are investigations of the Pacific Trust Territories (Micronesia) and what he calls the problem of obtaining justice in the United States. . . .

THE SMOTHERS Brothers replace Garry Moore Feb. 5, but what happens to Garry? He has a long-term contract that has about eight more years to go, but he wants out to work for another network. . . .

It's difficult to down the conviction that the three major networks' qualitative splurge early next year — the promised dramas of CBS and NBC and some potential plums on ABC's continuing "Stage 67" — is motivated by neither love of cultural events nor a desire to satisfy minority tastes so much as making a good impression on a Congress that will be investigating television — both educatioal and commercial — as never before. The linking of both kinds of TV in the Ford Foundation proposal (to use a domestic communications satellite as the means to finance a noncommercial network) virtually guarantees an over-all re-examination of American television. . . .

HARRY REASONER subs on the CBS evening news while Walter Cronkite is away for two weeks of European interviews for "The 21st Century." . . .

A couple of local kid-show TV performers, Paul Tripp and Sonny Fox, both once network, are in the just-released motion picture, "The Christmas That Almost Wasn't," which Tripp wrote.

Boy In Car Theft Case Made County's Ward

LISBON — A 16-year-old Leetonia youth who admitted stealing a car by himself and two other cars in company with a 15-year-old companion was turned over to the Columbiana County Welfare Department Thursday.

Judge Louis Tobin made the boy a ward of the county following a hearing in Juvenile Court. The boy had been in the County Jail detention room since deputies and Leetonia police apprehended the pair Thanksgiving Day.

Judge Tobin last week assigned the younger boy to permanent custody of the Ohio Youth Commission.

Kent Center Here To Hold Tests Tonight

The Quality Standards test and the ACT test will be administered tonight at 6:30 at the Kent State Academic Center on W. 6th St.

John G. Hedrick, director, pointed out that all new incoming freshmen and those who missed the September ACT test must take the exam.

The Quality Standards Test will be administered to eligible College of Education students. Two quarters must have elapsed since the completion of the Freshman English sequence. Those students with less than a "B" average in Freshman English must take the composition part of the test. Students in elementary, special education, early childhood and English majors and minors on the secondary level must take the grammar and usage portion of the test also. All of the education students eligible for the Quality Standards test also must take the handwriting test, Hedrick said.

Pre-enrollment for the winter quarter will begin Monday at the center office, 226 W. 6th St. The pre-enrollment period will extend to Saturday, Dec. 17, the official registration day. Adults interested in auditing classes are invited to attend during the winter quarter. Those wishing to do so may set up an appointment with Hedrick.

Winter quarter schedules are available at the center office. They will be sent out upon request.

Winter quarter classes will begin Jan. 5 and end March 17. Forty-seven sections are being offered this winter.

Ronald Phelps, infant son of Franklin Phelps of 900 W. 8th St., was in "fair" condition with burns of the abdomen and legs received when hot coffee spilled.

Jeffre Shaw, son of James Shaw of 935 Plutus Ave., Chester, cut his chin in a fall.

Ray Betteridge of Dixonville was bitten on the right leg by a dog.

Charles Wilson, son of Duane Wilson of R. D. 1, suffered a fractured right arm in a sledding mishap.

'They Are Fine,' Swiss Girl Says Of U.S. Teachers

LISBON — "American teachers are friendly — kind of like classmates," Elizabeth Wernner, 17, of Basel, Switzerland, told Lisbon Kiwanians Thursday.

An exchange student this year at Columbiana High School, Miss Wernner said she finds American students complain about their teachers, just like the Swiss, "but I think here they don't have any reason to complain. In Switzerland, the teachers are high up and we can't have any contact with them."

She spoke at the club's luncheon in the Daughters of America Hall and showed colored slides of her family, their Alpine chalet with a view of the Jungfrau, her school, and scenes of the country.

Miss Wernner said she likes Columbiana very much. "Everyone is friendly and kind." She is a member of the Reformed (Zwingli) Church and is in this country under the International Christian Youth Exchange. The Jerusalem Lutheran Church of Columbiana is her sponsor and she resides with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ballintine of Manor Dr.

She was introduced by J. L. McBride, superintendent of county schools and program chairman for December.

Cornell P. Monda, president, presided. Dan Myers led group singing, with Fred Shiltz at the piano.

Guests were William Farmer and Francis Gardner of the Key Club at David Anderson High School.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Slimming Should Be Pleasurable

You long to doff 10 pounds or 20, but you love to eat. What to do? Plan delightful fare, using nutrition know-how and culinary ingenuity to keep the meals high in satiety and modest in calories.

Ida Jean Kain

This dietitian maintains that when the menu is pleasing and the meal well cooked, you feel happy and contented while losing weight. Enjoyable meals gratify all the senses — sight, taste, texture, aroma. Include foods that are high in satiety and you will have the feeling you have dined well.

Certain foods appease hunger more effectively than other foods do, quite apart from their calorie value. When you eat to satiety on the quantity score, you've overeaten. But when you include foods which heighten satiety, you can achieve satisfaction well within your slimming calories.

DINNER IS the high point of the day. Start the meal with a clear soup or broth, piping hot. Because of the meat extractives contained in them, such soups stimulate the gastric juices and provide that important feeling of satisfaction. With this first course have crisp celery, radish roses or carrot slivers, for color and crunchiness.

Lean meat is high in satiety value and sticks to the ribs. Have a 4-ounce portion, cooked weight, but trim away the fat. The fat of the meat is high in satiety, but fats boost calories and are highly suspect on the cholesterol count. If you fix gravy, cool the drippings first so the congealed fat can be skimmed off.

Fish and chicken can alternate with the meat of the menu. Allow 5 to 6 ounces of fish, cooked weight. Have a generous serving of chicken, broiled or baked.

Decide which starch gives the most satisfaction — potato, other starchy vegetable or bread. Half a baked potato, cut lengthwise and served with a half pat of margarine or butter, is wonderfully satisfying for 75 calories. Or, choose an ear of corn, lightly buttered, or a half cup of rice, or a slice of bread. Seconds on starch add more to calories than to satiety.

INCLUDE A green or yellow vegetable, allowing a half to two - thirds cup per serving. A crisp green salad with red apple slices (peeling left on) or tomato quarters, provide essential nutrients and bulk. To the tossed salad add a tablespoon of French Dressing. Or use a diet salad dressing. However, some oil is needed daily, so take your choice, use oil in cooking or in salad dressing.

Meat-On-Friday Era Begins For Roman Catholics

NEW YORK (AP) — Roman Catholics throughout the country began a meat-on-Friday era today and the prevailing mood among fish dealers ranged between apprehension and gloom.

Along the Fulton Street Fish Market most dealers preferred to play wait-and-see rather than try to prognosticate.

The Market research Corp. predicted the end of meat abstinence might cause a drop of 8 to 10 per cent in fish sales and said, "Retailers should plan merchandising programs which would promote fish as a week-around dish."

In Chicago, Booth Fisheries announced it had increased its advertising budget 50 per cent — to $1,250,000 a year.

However, at the State Fish Co. of San Pedro, one of California's biggest fish dealers, a spokesman insisted that "after all those years, people will still eat fish on Friday."

And Warren Enos, sales coordinator for a large Boston waterfront wholesaler, declared: "We haven't seen any effect yet. We don't expect any slump."

"After all," he reasoned, "many Catholics like fish so much they eat it twice a week."

The world's largest geyser is in Yellowstone Park.

By JOHN HORN

A Little Of This And That

Lauren Bacall and John Forsythe make their musical debut on ABC's "Stage 67" Feb. 9 in an hour with the jaw-breaking title of "The Light Fantastic, or How To Tell Your Past, Present and Maybe Future Through Social Dancing," a sort of social history of America in song and dance. . . .

David McCallum's father — he's D. McC. Sr. — opened last Sunday at New York's Philharmonic Hall and won nice notices for his violin solo of "Softly as I Leave You." The papa of the "Man From U.N.C.L.E." is concertmaster of the Mantovani Orchestra. . . .

PHYLLIS DILLER is taking along three pairs of bikinis and four pairs of contact lenses to Southeast Asia, which she's touring with the Bob Hope USO troupe (the NBC show to be telecast Jan. 18). Three pairs of bikinis? Phyllis Diller? She says her appearance will get U.S. troops over homesickness. . . .

Ronald Reagan will make his first TV special appearance since becoming governor of California in "Freedom's Finest Hour," being syndicated around the country. The show is being telecast in New York on independent Channel 11, Dec. 11. . . .

"Jericho," the World War II adventure series, is being replaced in mid-January by "Cavalcade," a special-event variety show featuring highlights of circuses, rodeos, ice shows and similar events. Joe Cates, who ran "International Showtime" and last summer's "Hippodrome," is producing for CBS.

HERE'S advance planning. "Christmas at Radio City Music Hall," the traditional pageant, will be filmed this year by NBC for telecast during next year's Yuletide season. . . .

"Fame Is the Name of the Game," the two-hour Universal film for TV and theaters on NBC last Saturday, was more like an expanded TV mystery than a film. The color was excellent, but the plot and dialogue were trite and the performances were lackluster, to say the most. . . .

In its report on freedom of information activity in TV and radio during 1966, Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalist society, looked askance at President Johnson's "re-do" of his June 18 news conference for TV as "separate but unequal." Defense Press Secretary Arthur Sylvester's continuing dispute with CBS correspondent Morley Safer and the individual clearance that was required — later eased to a blanket license — for North Vietnamese film. . . .

IN THE HALF-HOUR situation comedy series he's developing for NBC, producer Sheldon Leonard hopes to do for Jerry Van Dyke what was done for Jerry's brother, Dick. Lois Nettleton will play the wife of the night club comic Jerry will portray next season. . . .

Frank DeFelitta's "The American Image" began as a documentary on the history of American art but changed to a view of America through the artist's eye. Some 150 paintings will be shown in colorcast to be aired by NCB Jan. 29 or May 26. Aline Saarinen and John Lord wrote the script. . . .

DeFelitta, by the way, would like this next reality probe to be that of Germany. And the futures for NBC producer Ted Yates, after his three hours on "The Battle for Asia," Dec. 16, Jan. 8 and Feb. 5, are investigations of the Pacific Trust Territories (Micronesia) and what he calls the problem of obtaining justice in the United States. . . .

THE SMOTHERS Brothers replace Garry Moore Feb. 5, but what happens to Garry? He has a long-term contract that has about eight more years to go, but he wants out to work for another network. . . .

It's difficult to down the conviction that the three major networks' qualitative splurge early next year — the promised dramas of CBS and NBC and some potential plums on ABC's continuing "Stage 67" — is motivated by neither love of cultural events nor a desire to satisfy minority tastes so much as making a good impression on a Congress that will be investigating television — both educatioal and commercial — as never before. The linking of both kinds of TV in the Ford Foundation proposal (to use a domestic communications satellite as the means to finance a noncommercial network) virtually guarantees an over-all re-examination of American television. . . .

HARRY REASONER subs on the CBS evening news while Walter Cronkite is away for two weeks of European interviews for "The 21st Century." . . .

A couple of local kid-show TV performers, Paul Tripp and Sonny Fox, both once network, are in the just-released motion picture, "The Christmas That Almost Wasn't," which Tripp wrote.

Boy In Car Theft Case Made County's Ward

LISBON — A 16-year-old Leetonia youth who admitted stealing a car by himself and two other cars in company with a 15-year-old companion was turned over to the Columbiana County Welfare Department Thursday.

Judge Louis Tobin made the boy a ward of the county following a hearing in Juvenile Court. The boy had been in the County Jail detention room since deputies and Leetonia police apprehended the pair Thanksgiving Day.

Judge Tobin last week assigned the younger boy to permanent custody of the Ohio Youth Commission.

Kent Center Here To Hold Tests Tonight

The Quality Standards test and the ACT test will be administered tonight at 6:30 at the Kent State Academic Center on W. 6th St.

John G. Hedrick, director, pointed out that all new incoming freshmen and those who missed the September ACT test must take the exam.

The Quality Standards Test will be administered to eligible College of Education students. Two quarters must have elapsed since the completion of the Freshman English sequence. Those students with less than a "B" average in Freshman English must take the composition part of the test. Students in elementary, special education, early childhood and English majors and minors on the secondary level must take the grammar and usage portion of the test also. All of the education students eligible for the Quality Standards test also must take the handwriting test, Hedrick said.

Pre-enrollment for the winter quarter will begin Monday at the center office, 226 W. 6th St. The pre-enrollment period will extend to Saturday, Dec. 17, the official registration day. Adults interested in auditing classes are invited to attend during the winter quarter. Those wishing to do so may set up an appointment with Hedrick.

Winter quarter schedules are available at the center office. They will be sent out upon request.

'They Are Fine,' Swiss Girl Says Of U.S. Teachers

LISBON — "American teachers are friendly — kind of like classmates," Elizabeth Wernner, 17, of Basel, Switzerland, told Lisbon Kiwanians Thursday.

An exchange student this year at Columbiana High School, Miss Wernner said she finds American students complain about their teachers, just like the Swiss, "but I think here they don't have any reason to complain. In Switzerland, the teachers are high up and we can't have any contact with them."

She spoke at the club's luncheon in the Daughters of America Hall and showed colored slides of her family, their Alpine chalet with a view of the Jungfrau, her school, and scenes of the country.

Miss Wernner said she likes Columbiana very much. "Everyone is friendly and kind." She is a member of the Reformed (Zwingli) Church and is in this country under the International Christian Youth Exchange. The Jerusalem Lutheran Church of Columbiana is her sponsor and she resides with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ballintine of Manor Dr.

She was introduced by J. L. McBride, superintendent of county schools and program chairman for December.

Cornell P. Monda, president, presided. Dan Myers led group singing, with Fred Shiltz at the piano.

Guests were William Farmer and Francis Gardner of the Key Club at David Anderson High School.

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Slimming Should Be Pleasurable

You long to doff 10 pounds or 20, but you love to eat. What to do? Plan delightful fare, using nutrition know-how and culinary ingenuity to keep the meals high in satiety and modest in calories.

Ida Jean Kain

This dietitian maintains that when the menu is pleasing and the meal well cooked, you feel happy and contented while losing weight. Enjoyable meals gratify all the senses — sight, taste, texture, aroma. Include foods that are high in satiety and you will have the feeling you have dined well.

Certain foods appease hunger more effectively than other foods do, quite apart from their calorie value. When you eat to satiety on the quantity score, you've overeaten. But when you include foods which heighten satiety, you can achieve satisfaction well within your slimming calories.

DINNER IS the high point of the day. Start the meal with a clear soup or broth, piping hot. Because of the meat extractives contained in them, such soups stimulate the gastric juices and provide that important feeling of satisfaction. With this first course have crisp celery, radish roses or carrot slivers, for color and crunchiness.

Lean meat is high in satiety value and sticks to the ribs. Have a 4-ounce portion, cooked weight, but trim away the fat. The fat of the meat is high in satiety, but fats boost calories and are highly suspect on the cholesterol count. If you fix gravy, cool the drippings first so the congealed fat can be skimmed off.

Fish and chicken can alternate with the meat of the menu. Allow 5 to 6 ounces of fish, cooked weight. Have a generous serving of chicken, broiled or baked.

Decide which starch gives the most satisfaction — potato, other starchy vegetable or bread. Half a baked potato, cut lengthwise and served with a half pat of margarine or butter, is wonderfully satisfying for 75 calories. Or, choose an ear of corn, lightly buttered, or a half cup of rice, or a slice of bread. Seconds on starch add more to calories than to satiety.

INCLUDE A green or yellow vegetable, allowing a half to two - thirds cup per serving. A crisp green salad with red apple slices (peeling left on) or tomato quarters, provide essential nutrients and bulk. To the tossed salad add a tablespoon of French Dressing. Or use a diet salad dressing. However, some oil is needed daily, so take your choice, use oil in cooking or in salad dressing.

With this dinner, give dessert the light touch, a half - ounce of cheese or fresh fruit. Or just a hot beverage. You can't believe you're dieting, but you can slim down.

Police, Fireman At Canton Won't Modify Demands

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Police and firemen who have been demonstrating at city hall this week for higher pay have indicated they do not intend to modify their demands.

However, Alfonso Conde, police representative, said he would take city council's best offer to the men for consideration after the windup of today's talks.

Council has offered $450 annual pay hikes and $3 an hour for overtime. When that offer was rejected Wednesday, council asked the police-fire representatives to bring in a counter proposal.

Police and firemen were demanding a $600 annual wage boost across the board, plus $20-a-year longevity up to $400 and improved fringe benefits.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: We are newlyweds who have reached an impasse and have agreed to abide by your decision.

My husband has a partial plate. I knew this when I married him but it made no difference. The problem is that my husband refuses to allow me in the bathroom when he is brushing his plate. It hurts me to be shut out.

I feel a married couple should be completely open with each other in every way. I never have refused my husband anything he has asked of me. Last night I begged him to let me see him without his partial but he said, "No."

Please settle this disagreement in my favor because it means a lot to me.—ALMOST PARADISE.

Dear Almost: I believe married couples should be completely open, too, but what you are after is not "openness." It is, instead, a violation of your husband's privacy.

Too much togetherness can suffocate a marriage. People need to be alone. If the man is self-conscious about being seen without his partial plate, for heaven's sake respect his feelings.

And please read the next letter. It may help you view the situation differently.

Gummed Up

Dear Ann: Three months ago my husband had dentures made. I was happy when he finally agreed to put his mouth in shape because he has been needing it for a long time.

The problem is he will not keep his teeth in. He looks about 20 years older without his dentures and I had to look at him. He also spoils my appetite when he takes his teeth out and gums his food.

I have asked him repeatedly why he keeps removing his dentures and he claims it takes awhile to get used to them. He says nobody who has his own teeth knows how it feels to have plates.

Please, Ann, please print my letter and your advice, because I see other men going around toothless and I just can't understand it. — BAFFLED BELLE.

Dear Belle: Your husband's dentures are probably uncomfortable. He should go back to the dentist and get them adjusted. Teeth cannot help your husband eat better or look better if they are in a glass. Urge him to make an appointment at once.

Fiction Factory

Dear Ann: My wife doesn't think we have a problem. I disagree.

Our youngest son is in the fifth grade. Ever since he started to talk he has told the most fantastic stories. I admit I used to think it was funny but now I feel it's time he stopped the story-telling and stuck to the truth.

My wife says his imagination is wonderful. She enjoys repeating his wild stories to anyone who will listen. Often she does this in the boy's presence.

When I tell her I think our son needs help she laughs and says he will outgrow it. What do you think?—PERPLEXED PAPA.

Dear Paper: A fifth grader (even though he has a vivid imagination) should be able to separate fact from fantasy. You two have encouraged your son's story-telling and now you must put a stop to it or he will turn into one of the world's biggest liars.

Make it clear that every time the boy tells a story he must label it as a story. Show your appreciation for his fantasies but show even more appreciation for the truth.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Drive Seen To Draft Reagan For GOP Nomination In '68

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of a conservative Republican organization predicted today that a nationwide move will be launched soon to draft Ronald Reagan for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.

D. Bruce Evans, chairman of United Republicans of America, said, "I think an effort will be launched by several of the conservative organizations in the near future to draft him."

In an interview, Evans compared it with the draft-Goldwater campaign launched months before former Sen. Barry Goldwater announced his candidacy for the 1964 Republican nomination.

Reagan, elected governor of California last month, has said he expects to serve out his four-year term but might be a "favorite son" candidate at the 1968 GOP convention.

Evans, who told a news conference Thursday his group would work to keep Michigan Gov. George Romney from getting the 1968 GOP nomination, said it would take no part in the draft-Reagan effort until a convention scheduled for February 1968 in Dallas.

If Reagan does not enter the presidential race, Evans said URA could support former vice President Richard M. Nixon against Romney.

Receives Promotion

NEGLEY — George M. McGinness, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barr, has been promoted to Army Specialist 4 in Germany, where he is serving as a petroleum handler in Company A of the 35th Supply and Service Battalion. India Postal Officials Not Up On Geography

NEW DEHLI (AP) — A New Delhi resident complained to a city newspaper that Indian postal authorities are not keeping up on their world geography. He said a letter addressed to Guayana, in South America, was returned marked "No such place."

In their attempt to deliver the letter, postal authorities had scratched out "Guayana" and sent it to Gohana, in India's Punjab state. It was returned to the writer without having left India.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: I save the scraps of hand soap and put them into a piece of nylon net about 10 inches square. Then I tie two diagonal corners into a knot, reach for the two opposite diagonal corners and tie them into another knot.

I find this is a dandy item for washing undies and to let the children use when taking their baths.

It's a good way to use up those scraps of soap left lying around.

I also find this is a fantastic item for washing plastic coffee cups. It sure cleans that brown film out of them without scratching.

MRS. H. W. D.

Now, this is an entirely new idea.

If I knew who Mrs. H.W.D. was, I would certainly give her credit for a new idea. Here's why:

First, it takes no sewing whatsoever, such as when we make our little bags to dump those slivers of soap into.

Second, any time the soap chips wear down all one has to do is untie the knots on the nylon (be sure it's good nylon net) and retie them.

The best part about it is when you bathe you can use the bottom smooth side of the bag and scrub those elbows, legs and feet with it. The nylon net gives the most tingling sensation you can imagine and seems to help circulation.

Another good thing about this is if you want to really scrub something, turn it upside down, holding the ball of soap chips in your hand and you've got all of that beautifully tied four corners of net to scrub with.

All it takes is a rinse under the faucet and the net may be put back in your soap tray without any muss, fuss or loss of soap chips.

The tiny pieces of soap do not stick to your soap tray because the net eliminates that problem.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: We did not have a serving platter big enough for our turkey so we took the broiler part from the gas range and lined it with aluminum foil . . . and do you know we had a pretty "silver" platter to put the turkey on?

MRS. PHILLIP BRITZ.

Dear Heloise: When sanding a floor, table, etc., save some of the wood dust and work it into your crack filler.

The wood dust makes the filler look more like wood, makes it hard to find the filled place and makes it more lasting.

WANDA NORTHRUP.

DEAR HELOISE: I have a hint for all the girls who are sending out their Christmas cards.

To keep from licking the envelopes and stamps I use a cotton tipped swab dipped in water.

It's really fast and I don't have that awful glue taste in my mouth when I'm finished!

KATY CARY

DEAR HELOISE: When I remove wallpaper I wear some old wool socks over my shoes and remove them before leaving the room. I don't track sticky wallpaper all over the rest of the house.

My wife blesses me for thinking of this one.

Please, Heloise, give us boys a little credit for thinking of a good one now and then. Thanks.

DEAR ROGER: We give all our nice menfolk credit for the terrific hints they send in and a great big "God bless you" for yours.

We think it's great.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When I cut sandwiches, I don't make a complete cut through the bottom slice of bread.

This way they are easier to slip into the sandwich bags and can easily be pulled apart when they are to be eaten.

KAREN.

DEAR HELOISE: We live in an apartment with very drafty windows.

I use thin plastic garment bags to stuff in between the cracks around the windows to keep out the drafts.

By cutting the plastic to fit, it doesn't show and really stops the wind.

In Lofty Pacific Outpost

U.S. To Launch Giant Communication Satellite

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Looking like a monster spider, a busy spacecraft named ATS aims toward a lofty Pacific outpost next Tuesday to keep a weather eye on one-third of the earth and pioneer advancements in satellite communications.

Space agency scientists plan to follow up eight days later, on Dec. 14, by orbiting a "biosatellite" capsule packed with fruit flies, wasps, flour beetles and other living specimens on a three-day "bring-'em-back-alive" trip around the world.

The biosatellite launching — first in an intensive program conceived to determine the effect of space radiation and weightlessness on genetics, growth and development of living things — would pave the way for future long-duration flights by monkeys and rats.

ATS — for applications technology satellite — is due to blast off at 8:42 p.m. EST Tuesday as the payload of a powerful Atlas-Agena rocket. Scientists hope the spacecraft settles in a stationary orbit 22,300 miles over the equator in the central Pacific Ocean.

Goals of the 1,550-pound ATS, with eight antenna legs, include snapping the first high-quality photos of earth from that altitude — capturing more than one-third of the earth in each picture.

Also, stations in Japan, Australia and the United States will try to communicate simultaneously through the satellite during its three-year lifetime. Aircraft out of range of earth-based stations will attempt to contact airports by radio through ATS.

The camera is expected to turn out clear photographs of earth and clouds as often as once every 20 minutes — including all of the United States, Central America and Japan; most of the Pacific Ocean and Australia, and portions of South America and Asia in each picture.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: We are newlyweds who have reached an impasse and have agreed to abide by your decision.

My husband has a partial plate. I knew this when I married him but it made no difference. The problem is that my husband refuses to allow me in the bathroom when he is brushing his plate. It hurts me to be shut out.

I feel a married couple should be completely open with each other in every way. I never have refused my husband anything he has asked of me. Last night I begged him to let me see him without his partial but he said, "No."

Please settle this disagreement in my favor because it means a lot to me.—ALMOST PARADISE.

Dear Almost: I believe married couples should be completely open, too, but what you are after is not "openness." It is, instead, a violation of your husband's privacy.

Too much togetherness can suffocate a marriage. People need to be alone. If the man is self-conscious about being seen without his partial plate, for heaven's sake respect his feelings.

And please read the next letter. It may help you view the situation differently.

Gummed Up

Dear Ann: Three months ago my husband had dentures made. I was happy when he finally agreed to put his mouth in shape because he has been needing it for a long time.

The problem is he will not keep his teeth in. He looks about 20 years older without his dentures and I had to look at him. He also spoils my appetite when he takes his teeth out and gums his food.

I have asked him repeatedly why he keeps removing his dentures and he claims it takes awhile to get used to them. He says nobody who has his own teeth knows how it feels to have plates.

Please, Ann, please print my letter and your advice, because I see other men going around toothless and I just can't understand it. — BAFFLED BELLE.

Dear Belle: Your husband's dentures are probably uncomfortable. He should go back to the dentist and get them adjusted. Teeth cannot help your husband eat better or look better if they are in a glass. Urge him to make an appointment at once.

Fiction Factory

Dear Ann: My wife doesn't think we have a problem. I disagree.

Our youngest son is in the fifth grade. Ever since he started to talk he has told the most fantastic stories. I admit I used to think it was funny but now I feel it's time he stopped the story-telling and stuck to the truth.

My wife says his imagination is wonderful. She enjoys repeating his wild stories to anyone who will listen. Often she does this in the boy's presence.

When I tell her I think our son needs help she laughs and says he will outgrow it. What do you think?—PERPLEXED PAPA.

Dear Paper: A fifth grader (even though he has a vivid imagination) should be able to separate fact from fantasy. You two have encouraged your son's story-telling and now you must put a stop to it or he will turn into one of the world's biggest liars.

Make it clear that every time the boy tells a story he must label it as a story. Show your appreciation for his fantasies but show even more appreciation for the truth.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ohio Teacher Unions

Few Knew Of Their Existence Before Strikes

CLEVELAND (AP) — Teachers' unions represent only a fraction of Ohio teachers, but because of the kind of tactics they use and the education associations won't use, the unions pack a wallop out of proportion to their size.

Less than 250 of Youngstown's more than 1,200 teachers were able to immobilize the school system last week. Thirty-three of the 152 teachers conducted a similar strike in Hubbard and got raises for all teachers.

These two were the first public school teacher strikes in Ohio and the resulting nationwide publicity has left its impact on the state, and possibly on the state legislature, also.

The Ohio Teachers Federation, the teachers' union, has been in existence for 30 years, but it is probably safe to say that before the strikes, few Ohioans knew it existed.

The Ohio federation, an AFL-CIO organization, has only 38 locals in the state compared to about 500 local units for the Ohio Education Association. The federation will not disclose its membership total, but it is probably about 6,000, little more than a drop in the bucket next to the education association's statewide membership of 83,000.

Cleveland is the only large city where union members outnumber education association members. It is also the only school district in Ohio where the union is the sole bargaining agent for teachers. The education association in Cleveland has about 1,200 members, and the federation, 2,000.

The highest percentage of membership for the union is in the southern Ohio town of Wellston (Jackson County), population 5,728, where 50 of 64 teachers are federation members. A number belong to both the federation and the education association.

About half the teachers in Mansfiled and Dayton are union members. Toledo's membership dropped from 609 to 582 last year. The Toledo Education Association has around 1,200 members, but won an election for bargaining agent by less than 100 votes.

This indicates some support for the Ohio federation's contention that many teachers would like to see the union represent them in bargaining sessions even when they do not belong to the union.

Stanton Bloom, one of the state federation's two full-time organizers said he received dozens of requests from teachers all over the state to organize unions in their districts, as a result of the Youngstown and Hubbard strikes.

Education associations have avoided the strike as a weapon, but have pulled teachers out of classrooms for "study days." This tactic was used last spring in Tallmadge, near Akron for one day in a conflict with the board of education.

Another weapon education associations have is the sanction, which blacklists a school district as an undesirable place to work and discourages teachers from applying for jobs there.

H. Doyle Davidson, president of the Akron Education Association and candidate for president elect of the Ohio Education Association, has asked for a sanction against the state of Ohio.

The resolution was approved Oct. 29, by the Northeastern Ohio Teachers Association and will go before the state association assembly this week in Columbus.

Ohio Teacher Unions

Few Knew Of Their Existence Before Strikes

CLEVELAND (AP) — Teachers' unions represent only a fraction of Ohio teachers, but because of the kind of tactics they use and the education associations won't use, the unions pack a wallop out of proportion to their size.

Less than 250 of Youngstown's more than 1,200 teachers were able to immobilize the school system last week. Thirty-three of the 152 teachers conducted a similar strike in Hubbard and got raises for all teachers.

These two were the first public school teacher strikes in Ohio and the resulting nationwide publicity has left its impact on the state, and possibly on the state legislature, also.

The Ohio Teachers Federation, the teachers' union, has been in existence for 30 years, but it is probably safe to say that before the strikes, few Ohioans knew it existed.

The Ohio federation, an AFL-CIO organization, has only 38 locals in the state compared to about 500 local units for the Ohio Education Association. The federation will not disclose its membership total, but it is probably about 6,000, little more than a drop in the bucket next to the education association's statewide membership of 83,000.

Cleveland is the only large city where union members outnumber education association members. It is also the only school district in Ohio where the union is the sole bargaining agent for teachers. The education association in Cleveland has about 1,200 members, and the federation, 2,000.

The highest percentage of membership for the union is in the southern Ohio town of Wellston (Jackson County), population 5,728, where 50 of 64 teachers are federation members. A number belong to both the federation and the education association.

About half the teachers in Mansfiled and Dayton are union members. Toledo's membership dropped from 609 to 582 last year. The Toledo Education Association has around 1,200 members, but won an election for bargaining agent by less than 100 votes.

This indicates some support for the Ohio federation's contention that many teachers would like to see the union represent them in bargaining sessions even when they do not belong to the union.

Stanton Bloom, one of the state federation's two full-time organizers said he received dozens of requests from teachers all over the state to organize unions in their districts, as a result of the Youngstown and Hubbard strikes.

Education associations have avoided the strike as a weapon, but have pulled teachers out of classrooms for "study days." This tactic was used last spring in Tallmadge, near Akron for one day in a conflict with the board of education.

Another weapon education associations have is the sanction, which blacklists a school district as an undesirable place to work and discourages teachers from applying for jobs there.

H. Doyle Davidson, president of the Akron Education Association and candidate for president elect of the Ohio Education Association, has asked for a sanction against the state of Ohio.

The resolution was approved Oct. 29, by the Northeastern Ohio Teachers Association and will go before the state association assembly this week in Columbus.

Thornton, Leading Rusher . . .

Chris Thornton didn't get much recognition at the beginning of the football season at Northern Arizona University, but suddenly at the mid-way point the former Wellsville star was moved to a starting tailback spot and proceeded to tear the opposition apart.

Final statistics released by the Arizona school showed Thornton, who is called "Thumper" by Coach Andy MacDonald, leading the team in rushing with 374 yards. He carried 75 times from scrimmage for an average of 4.3 per carry.

Thornton lost only 19 yards all season and scored 14 points. One of his touchdowns really counted though, it won the game against Eastern New Mexico University.

Chris is only a freshman and will be counted on heavily next season.

Hayes Stars On West Coast . . .

CHARLES HAYES, a former East Liverpool gridder, was one of the standouts on the Santa Barbara City College team this past season.

Hayes, who is now 6-4 and weighs 240 pounds, played tackle for the California school. After graduating from East Liverpool in 1962, he entered the Marines and played service football, then was given the opportunity to play at Santa Barbara.

In one game , he was picked as the player of the week. Coach Russ Wenzlau called Hayes the outstanding offensive blocker in the contest. "We gained over 100 yards with his blocking and opening of large gaps in the opponent's defense."

Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Hayes of 1173 Harker Ave.

FORMER Midland High players had a big night on the basketball court as the 1966-67 college season got underway Thursday night.

Norm Vanlier, a member of the state champion team two years ago at Midland, stole the show at the Civic Arena in Pittsburgh where he and his St. Francis teammates toppled Duquesne, 81-63

An account of the game said "the outstanding player on the court was Norm Vanlier, a 5-10 sophomore. Making his varsity debut, the clever young hoopster was all over the court, put in nine points and grabbed 11 of the Frankies 33 rebounds. The Dukes defense just couldn't keep up to him as he dribbled around and through the confused Bluffites.

Point Park scored an 85-74 victory over the Washington and Jefferson frosh with two ex-Midlanders combining for 36 points. Ron Brown dropped in 21 and Brent Lake added 15 to lead Point Park.

McDevitt Has Inexperienced Team

Coach Jack McDevitt begins his tenth season at Wellsville but doesn't paint a bright picture for the 1966-67 basketball season which gets under way tonight at Midland.

McDevitt only has two letter winners back from a squad that compiled an 11-7 season last year and the Wellsville mentor says "we need experience badly."

—:—

"WE SHOULDN'T win many games at first, maybe none at all," he added.

Last season, McDevitt took a small team, with only one starter over the six foot mark and molded it into a winning combination, but the team, although lacking height, had experience

Bob Morehead, a 5-8 senior and Dan Sedor, 6-2 junior, won letters last season, but only Morehead will be in the starting lineup tonight.

McDEVITT says "Morehead should be our best. He is a good shot and the leader. He will carry all of our offensive load and is the only letterman returning which played as a regular all season."

Sedor, was not a starter all season and McDevitt doesn't plan to start him tonight however his height will be of some help to the Tigers, McDevitt pointed out.

THE OTHER four starters to join Morehead tonight will be Todd Weekley a 5-8 senior. "Weekley will start as a guard because he has more experience than the others and lots of hustle," McDevitt said.

Walt Daniels, a 6-2 senior has drawn a starting berth. Up from the reserve squad he is expected to be the top rebounder for the Tigers.

Paul Hood, a 6-foot junior, another cager from the reserve ranks is a fair shot but needs experience badly.

THE FIFTH starter tonight will be either Jerry Wyse, 5-10 junior, or Rich Hall, 5-7 senior. Wyse has good moves but doesn't know when to use them sometimes.

Other candidates which might improve with experience include Tom McClain, 6-2 junior, Aaron Roach 6-foot senior, Mark Powell 6-1 junior and Ken Kornbau 5-10 sophomore.

McDEVITT is currently working with 23 boys out of a group of 50 which reported for basketball. Assisting McDevitt this season is Ken Woods, head football coach at Wellsville.

Williams Says He Is Quitting Ring

HOUSTON (AP) — Heavyweight boxer Cleveland (Big Cat) Williams, who suffered a third-round technical knockout at the hands of champion Cassius Clay last month, says he is hanging up his gloves.

He officially announced his retirement from the ring Thursday at a news conference. Williams said he will receive about $42,000 clear money from the title fight Nov. 14 in the Astrodome.

Williams, 33, almost died two years ago when he was shot in the abdomen in a scuffle with a highway patrolman. However, he recovered and staged a comeback that climaxed in his title shot against Clay.

The loss to Clay was Williams' 72nd professional fight. He won 65, lost six and fought one draw.

Players Of Super Bowl Champs To Get $23,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Each player on the team winning the professional football championship may receive a bonanza of $23,000, a record for a team sport.

The pay for two games would almost double the all-time high of $12,794 for a baseball World Series winner for a minimum of four games. The Los Angeles Dodgers of 1963 hold the baseball record.

When the National Football League and American Football League winners meet in the first Super Bowl at the 93,000-capacity Los Angeles Coliseum in early January, each winner will get a guaranteed $15,000 and each loser $7,500. That breaks down to $250 a minute for each of the winners.

If the NFL game is played in the big Cotton Bowl in Dallas, a strong possibility, the winning share should match the record of $8,052 by Cleveland for beating Baltimore in 1964. The AFL share would be smaller but the league set an all-time high a year ago when each Buffalo Bill got $5,189.

The mechanics of the Super Bowl game were announced Thursday night by Commissioner Pete Rozelle after both leagues accepted unanimously the recommendations of a joint committee.

"The weekend of Jan. 7-8 or the weekend of Jan. 15 are the likely dates," said Rozelle. "We are not able to announce a definite date at this time until we have talked more to the television people."

Rozelle said he would talk with all TV-networks and hoped to settle the matter soon. NFL games are carried by CBS and AFL games by NBC.

It is possible that the new league title games will be played on the same day, Sunday, Jan. 1 as part of a unique doubleheader, starting in Buffalo or Boston and ending in Dallas or St. Louis.

As of now, the AFL game is to be played Monday, Dec. 26 in the home park of the Eastern Division winner. The NFL game is to be played Sunday, Jan. 1 in the home park of the Eastern Conference champ. It is expected the AFL date will be moved up to avoid a long layoff before the Super Bowl.

The Super Bowl agreement was for one year only, subject to review.

Although the AFL uses the two-point conversion rule and the NFL the one-point, there will be no two-point conversions in the Super Bowl.

New Pension Plan Studied By Baseball

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Major league baseball clubs have agreed to finance an $8.2-million pension plan in which a player could receive as much as $1,000 a month at age 65.

Under the terms of the new plan — the cost of which has been shared by both owners and players in the past — a player, manager, coach or trainer who was active for 10 years will receive approximately $500 a month at the age of 50. That's twice as much as in the past.

If the individual leaves his retirement income in the plan until he is 65, he would receive about $1,000 a month.

Under the old plan the owners contributed $2.7 million compared with the $4.1 million they will finance now over a two-year period.

At the same time as he revealed the pension plan Thursday, Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, disclosed that the players were seeking an increase in the minimum major league salary from $7,000 to $12,000. He said the proposal would be discussed at a later date.

Racing Called Off Today At Waterford

Racing was called off again today at Waterford Park when the jockeys refused to ride. Racing will definitely resume Saturday, officials said.

Tony Bartirome, 34, Named Bucs' Trainer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates have a new trainer.

Tony Bartirome, 34, former Pirate fire baseman, was named Thursday to succeed Danny Whelan who resigned this week to enter private business.

For the past three years Bartirome was the trainer for the Pirates' Columbus, Ohio, farm club.

Williams Says He Is Quitting Ring

HOUSTON (AP) — Heavyweight boxer Cleveland (Big Cat) Williams, who suffered a third-round technical knockout at the hands of champion Cassius Clay last month, says he is hanging up his gloves.

He officially announced his retirement from the ring Thursday at a news conference. Williams said he will receive about $42,000 clear money from the title fight Nov. 14 in the Astrodome.

Williams, 33, almost died two years ago when he was shot in the abdomen in a scuffle with a highway patrolman. However, he recovered and staged a comeback that climaxed in his title shot against Clay.

The loss to Clay was Williams' 72nd professional fight. He won 65, lost six and fought one draw.

Players Of Super Bowl Champs To Get $23,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Each player on the team winning the professional football championship may receive a bonanza of $23,000, a record for a team sport.

The pay for two games would almost double the all-time high of $12,794 for a baseball World Series winner for a minimum of four games. The Los Angeles Dodgers of 1963 hold the baseball record.

When the National Football League and American Football League winners meet in the first Super Bowl at the 93,000-capacity Los Angeles Coliseum in early January, each winner will get a guaranteed $15,000 and each loser $7,500. That breaks down to $250 a minute for each of the winners.

If the NFL game is played in the big Cotton Bowl in Dallas, a strong possibility, the winning share should match the record of $8,052 by Cleveland for beating Baltimore in 1964. The AFL share would be smaller but the league set an all-time high a year ago when each Buffalo Bill got $5,189.

The mechanics of the Super Bowl game were announced Thursday night by Commissioner Pete Rozelle after both leagues accepted unanimously the recommendations of a joint committee.

"The weekend of Jan. 7-8 or the weekend of Jan. 15 are the likely dates," said Rozelle. "We are not able to announce a definite date at this time until we have talked more to the television people."

Rozelle said he would talk with all TV-networks and hoped to settle the matter soon. NFL games are carried by CBS and AFL games by NBC.

It is possible that the new league title games will be played on the same day, Sunday, Jan. 1 as part of a unique doubleheader, starting in Buffalo or Boston and ending in Dallas or St. Louis.

As of now, the AFL game is to be played Monday, Dec. 26 in the home park of the Eastern Division winner. The NFL game is to be played Sunday, Jan. 1 in the home park of the Eastern Conference champ. It is expected the AFL date will be moved up to avoid a long layoff before the Super Bowl.

The Super Bowl agreement was for one year only, subject to review.

Although the AFL uses the two-point conversion rule and the NFL the one-point, there will be no two-point conversions in the Super Bowl.

New Pension Plan Studied By Baseball

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Major league baseball clubs have agreed to finance an $8.2-million pension plan in which a player could receive as much as $1,000 a month at age 65.

Under the terms of the new plan — the cost of which has been shared by both owners and players in the past — a player, manager, coach or trainer who was active for 10 years will receive approximately $500 a month at the age of 50. That's twice as much as in the past.

If the individual leaves his retirement income in the plan until he is 65, he would receive about $1,000 a month.

Under the old plan the owners contributed $2.7 million compared with the $4.1 million they will finance now over a two-year period.

At the same time as he revealed the pension plan Thursday, Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Association, disclosed that the players were seeking an increase in the minimum major league salary from $7,000 to $12,000. He said the proposal would be discussed at a later date.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates have a new trainer.

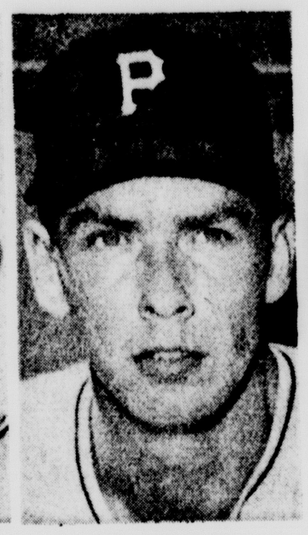
Bucs Give Up Bailey, Michael

Wills Is Ready For 'Several More Fine Years' As He Becomes Pirate

BOB BAILEY



GENE MICHAEL

MAUREY WILLS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Banished from Los Angeles to Pittsburgh because he jumped the Dodgers' Japanese tour, Maury Wills declared enthusiastically he is ready for "several more fine years" at his new position — third base.

"Leaving the Dodgers is by no means the end of the world," Wills said Thursday night after learning he had been traded to the Pirates for infielder - outfielder Bob Bailey, a onetime $175,000 bonus baby, and shortstop Gene Michael.

"Now that I'm traded I feel even more justified about leaving the tour. I know I can play for Pittsburgh, and I can play third base for Pittsburgh.

"I think of myself as a shortstop, but they have Gene Alley. He's one of the finest. I'm no stranger at third base. I should be able to have several more fine years playing third. You last a lot longer at third. Harry Walker is my kind of manager. Pittsburgh will run and I'll be running."

The deal came suddenly and unexpectedly.

The Dodgers had disclosed earlier in the week that the 34-year-old Wills was available. His abrupt and early departure from Japan because of a leg injury angered Los Angeles owner Walter O'Malley, and the decree went forth.

The Dodgers had been expected to send Wills to the New York Yankees. The Yankees, however, couldn't come up with the Dodgers' primary requirement — a shortstop.

Wills—who has had leg problems — will be determined to show he still has most of the speed and all of the daring that brought him the stolen base record of 104 and the Most Valuable player award in 1962.

"My right knee's coming along fine," he said. "It was badly sprained and twisted. It's had rest. I'm on a weight program for both legs, and next spring both of them will be 100 per cent."

If so, Wills should improve on his 1966 record. He batted .273 — 15 points under his life time average — and stole just 38 bases while being caught 24 times. Last season was the first in seven that the slight speedster didn't lead the league in stolen bases.

Colleges With New Coaches Hiked To 10

By The Associated Press

The number of colleges that will have new football coaches next season increased to 10 Thursday when George Karras quit at Wichita State.

Karras' teams won four and lost 15 games in the past two years.

Other schools looking for new coaches are Vanderbilt, North Carolina, Hawaii, Arizona and Wisconsin.

Cowboys Picked To Clinch Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Dallas should practically wrap up the Eastern title in the National Football League Sunday and the Green Bay Packers should clinch at least a tie in the West.

The Buffalo Bills, coming on strong in the stretch, figure to even matters with Boston for an earlier defeat and nail down the American Football League's Eastern Division crown. Kansas City, with a bye, already has won the Western Division title.

The old Hand picker tries it once more (all games are Sunday unless otherwise indicated):

NFL

Dallas 20, St. Louis 9—Cowboys smell that Super Bowl cash. Teams played 10-10 tie earlier but that was before Charley Johnson was hurt. Cards' tough defense will give Don Meredith the big rush but their offense hasn't produced a touchdown in the last two games. Cowboys pack too much punch.

Cleveland 42, New York 17—After that disaster in Washington the Giants are ready for anything. Browns are teetering on brink and can't afford another loss after Thanksgiving Day in Dallas.

Green Bay 21, San Francisco 14—Packers still smarting from that 21-20 loss in San Francisco, their first loss. The 49ers have been averaging well over 30 points a game in last three outings, bombing Detroit 41-14.

Chicago 14, Baltimore 10 — Don't like either club here. Colts wobbling with John Unitas' sore arm killing offense. Gale Sayers only plus of Bears' sick offense. Baltimore in desperate position, must win or Packer game next week means nothing.

Los Angeles 23, Detroit 10 — Rams still dreaming of possible second-place finish if Colts collapse continues. Dick Bass ran for 136 yards when Rams beat Lions 14-7 in October. Los Angeles defense has been red hot with front four playing "get the quarterback" game.

Philadelphia 24, Pittsburgh 14 —Steelers have been tough lately, knocking off Browns and Cards before losing to Cowboys and Cards in 6-3 rematch. Eagles coming off a bye in a good spot to make a run for playoff in Miami with 6-5 record. Philadelphia won first game 31-14.

Minnesota 30, Atlanta 17—Vikings in bad mood after that close defeat by Green Bay. Falcons coming on week by week.

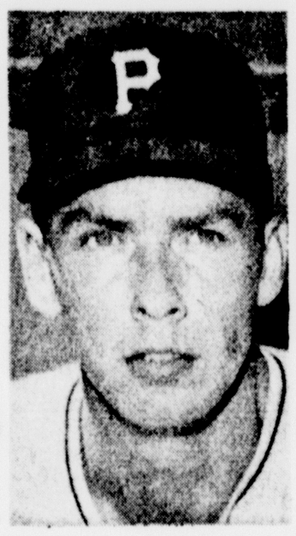
BOB BAILEY



GENE MICHAEL

MAUREY WILLS

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Banished from Los Angeles to Pittsburgh because he jumped the Dodgers' Japanese tour, Maury Wills declared enthusiastically he is ready for "several more fine years" at his new position — third base.

"Leaving the Dodgers is by no means the end of the world," Wills said Thursday night after learning he had been traded to the Pirates for infielder - outfielder Bob Bailey, a onetime $175,000 bonus baby, and shortstop Gene Michael.

"Now that I'm traded I feel even more justified about leaving the tour. I know I can play for Pittsburgh, and I can play third base for Pittsburgh.

"I think of myself as a shortstop, but they have Gene Alley. He's one of the finest. I'm no stranger at third base. I should be able to have several more fine years playing third. You last a lot longer at third. Harry Walker is my kind of manager. Pittsburgh will run and I'll be running."

The deal came suddenly and unexpectedly.

The Dodgers had disclosed earlier in the week that the 34-year-old Wills was available. His abrupt and early departure from Japan because of a leg injury angered Los Angeles owner Walter O'Malley, and the decree went forth.

The Dodgers had been expected to send Wills to the New York Yankees. The Yankees, however, couldn't come up with the Dodgers' primary requirement — a shortstop.

Wills—who has had leg problems — will be determined to show he still has most of the speed and all of the daring that brought him the stolen base record of 104 and the Most Valuable player award in 1962.

"My right knee's coming along fine," he said. "It was badly sprained and twisted. It's had rest. I'm on a weight program for both legs, and next spring both of them will be 100 per cent."

If so, Wills should improve on his 1966 record. He batted .273 — 15 points under his life time average — and stole just 38 bases while being caught 24 times. Last season was the first in seven that the slight speedster didn't lead the league in stolen bases.

Colleges With New Coaches Hiked To 10

By The Associated Press

The number of colleges that will have new football coaches next season increased to 10 Thursday when George Karras quit at Wichita State.

Karras' teams won four and lost 15 games in the past two years.

Elsewhere on the coaching front, Homer Rice, offensive backfield coach at Oklahoma, was reported to be one of the candidates being considered to replace Doug Weaver, who resigned at Kansas State.

Other schools looking for new coaches are Vanderbilt, North Carolina, Hawaii, Arizona and Wisconsin.

Cowboys Picked To Clinch Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Dallas should practically wrap up the Eastern title in the National Football League Sunday and the Green Bay Packers should clinch at least a tie in the West.

The Buffalo Bills, coming on strong in the stretch, figure to even matters with Boston for an earlier defeat and nail down the American Football League's Eastern Division crown. Kansas City, with a bye, already has won the Western Division title.

The old Hand picker tries it once more (all games are Sunday unless otherwise indicated):

NFL

Dallas 20, St. Louis 9—Cowboys smell that Super Bowl cash. Teams played 10-10 tie earlier but that was before Charley Johnson was hurt. Cards' tough defense will give Don Meredith the big rush but their offense hasn't produced a touchdown in the last two games. Cowboys pack too much punch.

Cleveland 42, New York 17—After that disaster in Washington the Giants are ready for anything. Browns are teetering on brink and can't afford another loss after Thanksgiving Day in Dallas.

Green Bay 21, San Francisco 14—Packers still smarting from that 21-20 loss in San Francisco, their first loss. The 49ers have been averaging well over 30 points a game in last three outings, bombing Detroit 41-14.

Chicago 14, Baltimore 10 — Don't like either club here. Colts wobbling with John Unitas' sore arm killing offense. Gale Sayers only plus of Bears' sick offense. Baltimore in desperate position, must win or Packer game next week means nothing.

Los Angeles 23, Detroit 10 — Rams still dreaming of possible second-place finish if Colts collapse continues. Dick Bass ran for 136 yards when Rams beat Lions 14-7 in October. Los Angeles defense has been red hot with front four playing "get the quarterback" game.

Philadelphia 24, Pittsburgh 14 —Steelers have been tough lately, knocking off Browns and Cards before losing to Cowboys and Cards in 6-3 rematch. Eagles coming off a bye in a good spot to make a run for playoff in Miami with 6-5 record. Philadelphia won first game 31-14.

Minnesota 30, Atlanta 17—Vikings in bad mood after that close defeat by Green Bay. Falcons coming on week by week.

ABE LONG—In loving memory of my husband who passed away 13 years ago today, Dec. 2nd.
May you always walk in sunshine,

It broke my heart to lose you
But you did not go alone
For part of me went with you.

Junior Editors Quiz on APES

QUESTION: What is the difference between an ape and a monkey?

ANSWER: The gorillas belong to a group of animals called "anthropoid" or man-like apes, the other three members of which we show in the ilustration. Apes are the brainiest of all the non-human animals and the chimpanzee is the smartest of the apes. The chimpanzee can even use tools in a primitive way, such as breaking off sticks to pull out juicy termites from their nests. There is a very large mental gap however, between apes and mankind.

Apes are often called monkeys, but the real monkeys be long to different families, even though both apes and monkeys are of the same order of primates. True monkeys are smaller than the apes, with thinner, more graceful bodies and shorter, narrower faces. Also most monkeys have tails, either long or short. Apes have very short tails or none. The monkeys are classified by scientists into two families, New World kind have wide noses and possess four more teeth than the Old World monkeys. Both apes and monkeys resemble each other in that they like to live in warm climates and are curious and playful.

FOR YOU TO DO: Try walking on all fours, using the knuckles of your hands. It will make you realize how gorillas usually walk and how differently you are built.

People In News

NEW YORK (AP) — The award winner's name was a surprise, but there he was among the other 1966 Emmy recipients for distinguished achievements in New York area television — Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Lindsay was cited for his encouragement of television production in New York as the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences made its 10th annual award presentations Thursday.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — It was "happy century" today for Grant and Sherman Evans, who claim to be the oldest twins in the United States.

But they had to celebrate separately. Grant's party was at the Florida Christian Home in Jacksonville. Sherman's celebration was at his own home in Winter Haven, Fla.

Neither brother felt up to the trip of nearly 200 miles although they are in reasonably good health.

Born Dec. 2, 1866, in Carter County, Ky., the twin brothers went separate ways as adults. Sherman became a watchmaker and opened a shop in Dayton, Ohio, in 1896. Grant farmed in the Kentucky bluegrass region.

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael Dunn, 32, a dwarf actor whose performance as the hunchback in "Ship of Fools" won him an Academy Award nomination, and Joy Talbot, 28, a 5-foot-4 former model, will be married in New York Dec. 14.

Dunn is three feet, 10 inches tall.

NEW YORK (AP) — The award winner's name was a surprise, but there he was among the other 1966 Emmy recipients for distinguished achievements in New York area television — Mayor John V. Lindsay.

Lindsay was cited for his encouragement of television production in New York as the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences made its 10th annual award presentations Thursday.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — It was "happy century" today for Grant and Sherman Evans, who claim to be the oldest twins in the United States.

But they had to celebrate separately. Grant's party was at the Florida Christian Home in Jacksonville. Sherman's celebration was at his own home in Winter Haven, Fla.

Neither brother felt up to the trip of nearly 200 miles although they are in reasonably good health.

Born Dec. 2, 1866, in Carter County, Ky., the twin brothers went separate ways as adults. Sherman became a watchmaker and opened a shop in Dayton, Ohio, in 1896. Grant farmed in the Kentucky bluegrass region.

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael Dunn, 32, a dwarf actor whose performance as the hunchback in "Ship of Fools" won him an Academy Award nomination, and Joy Talbot, 28, a 5-foot-4 former model, will be married in New York Dec. 14.

Dunn is three feet, 10 inches tall.

GOP Floor Leader Kenneth B. Lee, Sullivan County, was elevated to the office of speaker of the House at a reorganization meeting of the Republican delegation Thursday in Harrisburg.

The speaker is also given an additional $1,000 for each special session called during his term.

Rep. Lee A. Donaldson, Allegheny, was selected to succeed Lee as floor leader with Reps. Robert J. Butera, Montgomery, as assistant floor leader; Mae W. Kerraghan, Delaware, caucus chairman; and Alvin Bush, Lycoming, Caucus Secretary.
